Solicitation's Sunday

Heart Funds To Be Asked

George Wilson of Wellsville R.D., who underwent open heart surgery two years ago, is shown giving his Heart Fund contribution to Mrs. William Bush, chairman of the Wellsville campaign.

Volunteers throughout Columbiana County will conduct the annual "Heart Sunday" solicitation tomorrow, seeking funds to aid in research and treatment of diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

The county's drive is part of the annual campaign of the Heart Association of Eastern Ohio, which will have 4,000 workers in Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull Counties in the canvass.

Atty. Charles Lang is city chairman.

Campaign officials requested those not at home when a volunteer calls to mail their gifts to the Heart Fund in a pre-addressed envelope, which will be left at the door.

A year ago, about $40,000 was contributed during the one-day solicitation, while the month-long campaign netted some $85,000 in the three-county area.

The volunteers will also distribute information designed to help area residents protect their hearts and health, and to emphasize the varied program of the Heart Association.

Officials said heart attacks are a major problem, but are only one of many cardiovascular problems which are being solved.

These include other forms of heart and blood vessel diseases, such as stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and inborn heart defects.

On Bombing Missions

Four U.S. Jets Reported Shot Down In North Laos

TOKYO (AP) — Four U.S. jet planes were shot down Friday over Sam Neua Province, northeastern Laos, the Pathet Lao claimed today.

Peking radio, in a broadcast heard here, quoted the Pathet Lao as saying damage was caused to several additional planes.

The broadcast said all the downed planes were F101 jets taking part in bombing missions over Pathet Lao-controlled areas of Laos.

The broadcast gave no hint of what happened to the pilots of the downed planes.

It said 12 F101 and five T28 aircraft took part in the mission between 1 and 8 p.m. local time Friday.

U.S. planes have been smashing at Communist supply and reinforcement lines running through Laos from Communist North Viet Nam.

The United States has declared all its actions in Laos were in defense of the royal government of Laos and were justified by continued Communist violations of an international agreement in 1962 guaranteeing that country's neutrality.

'Meet Demands Or We March'

Negroes Issue Ultimatum To Selma Safety Director

SELMA, Ala. (A) — Negroes leaving one Negro shot and eight persons, including three newsmen, beaten.

The scheduled march at Selma Friday night was designed primarily to protest the Marion violence.

The four demands issued to Baker were listed by Williams as:

1. Try to hire Negroes as policemen.
2. Try to confer with the white leaders of Selma to attempt to establish lines of communication between whites and Negroes.
3. Help in working out something to expedite the registration of Negro voter applicants.
4. Agree to help in a drive for better paved streets and other facilities in Negro neighborhoods.

Meanwhile, in Marion, 30 miles to the west, Negroes also walked out of a church to demonstrate but turned back when ordered to do so by the police chief. In a similar situation 24 hours previous, violence erupted severely damaged a section of Canton McKinley High School today. No one was reported injured.

Fire officials said the three-alarm fire apparently started in a basement machine shop and spread to the roof. Firemen said no one was in the three-story building when the fire was reported at 5:40 a.m. by a bus driver.

More than 100 firemen and 10 trucks were on the scene. The fire, which was confined to the central wing of the northern section of the building, was brought under control about an hour and a half after it was reported.

Classrooms were damaged by flames and smoke and the library was described as a total loss.

Rep. Rhodes Seen Getting Leader Post

Chairmanship Of Policy Group Will Be Filled Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless there's a sudden change of mood and plot, House Republicans appear ready on Tuesday to fill the last opening in their congressional leadership with conservative Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona.

The post — chairman of the policy committee — has been left dangling for weeks rather than risk a party clash. There were some suggestions the job be abolished or filled by appointment.

But Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP caucus, said Friday the suggestions have been discarded and when the caucus opens Tuesday he will ask for nominations for the post.

Representatives of the various factions in the parties — liberal, moderate and conservative — said they know of no move to oppose Rhodes.

"He's the only one running now," said one source. And a member of the liberal bloc declared, "no one's too unhappy about it, either."

If so, it would attest to the success of a harmony maneuver negotiated by the House Republican Leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, and the two other members of the hierarchy, Laird and the assistant leader, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

Both those who want the United States to negotiate its way out of the war and those who want to stay and fight view the latest attempted coup with dismay.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a supporter of vigorous U.S. military action, said that the United States must get tough and insist on the kind of stable government needed to win the war against the Communists.

"It's high time the United States put its foot down and demanded a stable government," he said. "These constant changes in government constitute one of our most serious disabilities."

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, who has urged withdrawal of American troops, told the Senate Friday the coup against the government of Gen. Nguyen Khanh indicated the United States is pursuing a "go-it-alone" policy.

"Having found the South Vietnamese unwilling to fight for their freedom, we have determined to go it alone and to escalate the war there, if need be, in an effort to contain Red China," he said.

In response to a reporter's question as to how military action could be pursued when there was no stable government with which to deal, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said some steps could be taken immediately to restore stability.

Dirksen, who has supported President Johnson's expansion of military activities, said the

Generals Vote No Confidence In Khanh, Plan To Dispose Of Him Themselves

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Loyalist military leaders today defeated an attempted coup against Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, then apparently decided to dispose of Khanh themselves.

Informed sources reported that 15 young generals met with civilian Premier Phan Huy Quat this afternoon at Bien Hoa Air Base, 12 miles north of Saigon, and in effect, voted no confidence in Khanh. Khanh's ouster appeared imminent.

The coalition of "young Turk" generals was headed by Bri. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, who now appears to be the most powerful man in South Viet Nam.

Air Force Commander Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky stood out in the emerging power structure as the second most powerful man.

Thi and Ky met with newsmen today and Thi said, "up to this moment, Khanh is still commander in chief. In the near future we will talk more about it."

In recounting his role in crushing the attempted coup, Khanh had also flown to Bien Hoa early today and conferred with the loyalist generals. But it was not known what happened or where he went from there. He was believed still in the country.

Asked about Khanh, Thi replied vaguely: "He is on an inspection tour in the Second Corps area."

While the political maneuvering continued, a military spokesman revealed that Vietnamese forces may have made the biggest capture of weapons and ammunition destined for the Viet Cong at any single time in the war against the Communists.

Military authorities said the haul resulted from the sighting and sinking of a Communist gunboat in a cove about 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Ground forces fought their way into the area Friday and found a big ammunition dump and arms cache.

A full-scale operation against Communists in the area had continued despite the coup. It included a regiment on the ground supported by a navy patrol craft, two patrol craft escorts, a landing ship, a 20-man Vietnamese frogman team and aircraft cover.

Ky needed American officials who had persuaded him not to bomb rebel-held Saigon Airport.

"At a quarter of seven Friday night," Ky said, "we were ready to bomb Saigon Airport but U.S. advisers kept calling us. They said that in bombing the airport, we would condemn many innocent persons to death."

"But rebel leader Lam Van Phat, a former brigadier general who was holding my headquarters there, is not innocent. He is a traitor and a bandit."

"Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, called me and talked to me, so I postponed bombing the airport until this morning, and by then, our forces had control."

Thi flew from his headquarters in Hue early today to meet Ky at Bien Hoa. He brought with him several representatives of a student agitation group that played a large role in anti-Khanh demonstrations in the past.

Khanh had also flown to Bien Hoa early today and conferred with the loyalist generals. But it was not known what happened

Senators Appear Agreed

Stable Rule Held Viet Key

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators arguing about what to do in South Viet Nam appear agreed on one thing: Unless a stable civilian government can be obtained, conditions will deteriorate.

Both those who want the United States to negotiate its way out of the war and those who want to stay and fight view the latest attempted coup with dismay.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a supporter of vigorous U.S. military action, said that the United States must get tough and insist on the kind of stable government needed to win the war against the Communists.

"It's high time the United States put its foot down and demanded a stable government," he said. "These constant changes in government constitute one of our most serious disabilities."

South Vietnamese police force should be improved and military regulations enforced against government troops to prevent their raiding of village food supplies.

Warming Trend Due, Colder Late Sunday

A warming trend was expected today through most of Sunday, after one of the coldest morning temperatures since the late but not lamented zero cold wave.

The mercury fell to a frigid 7 above in the downtown early today, then rose 3 degrees in 90 minutes as the prelude to a possible high in the mid-40's. Tonight's low range will be a more moderate 28 to 35 degrees.

Sunday will be windy and warm with showers in the forenoon, changing to snow flurries and colder in the afternoon and night.

Woman Cited For 2 Crashes In 4 Minutes

Slippery Condition Of Streets Blamed In 5 Other Mishaps

Involved in two accidents within four minutes Friday afternoon, an East End woman remained in City Jail today on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating alcohol.

The two mishaps were among seven reported to police yesterday with slippery streets blamed for the other crashes. A Chester man was treated for a whiplash injury in one.

Mrs. Nancy Jane Reight, 26, of 914 Railroad St. remains in jail on the drunk driving count after being involved in an accident on Walnut St. at 3 p.m. and the second on Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." near E. 4th St. at 3:04 p.m.

Mrs. Reight was treated at City Hospital at 12:25 this morning after reporting to Desk Officer Robert Duffy that she had abdominal pains. She was taken to the hospital in a cruiser by Patrolman K. J. Montgomery and J. A. Walsh.

Beaver Woman Dies When Struck By Auto

BEAVER — Mrs. Anna L. Ford, 68, of Freedom became Beaver County's fifth traffic fatality of the year when she was struck by an auto while crossing a street near her home at 12:15 a. m. today.

She was pronounced dead at the scene of a crushed chest and compound fractures of both legs by Dr. John Colavincenzo, county coroner.

The coroner said the driver, Milton N. Savanovich of East Rochester, will be held.

Savanovich said he was unable to stop when she suddenly appeared ahead of him, and police said it was snowing at the time and the road was slippery. She was en route to a neighbor's home for a hair-do.

Returns 7,000 Photos

350 miles above the lunar surface, streaking in at about 4,400 miles per hour.

Ranger 8's 234,000-mile voyage took about 66 hours and, except for a late-hour decision to run its cameras 10 minutes longer than originally planned, was virtually a duplicate of Ranger 7's flight.

Running the cameras longer enabled Ranger 8, sweeping from left to right across the face of the moon, to take pictures of huge craters and a mountainous area west of the broad plan around the target point.

A team of five scientists was expected to disclose late today just how many pictures Ranger 8 obtained and give some idea of what they show about the lunar surface.

Scientists expected Ranger 8's pictures to be superior to those of Ranger 7 because of technical improvements in some of the cameras, and because of better lighting on the moon at the time they were taken.

Today's shots were snapped near the moon's shadow line, thus were expected to have more contrast and better definition of detail because of long shadows cast by mountains, rocks and other features. The shadows could reveal craters to shallow or too small for Ranger 7 to detect.

Ranger 7 crashed in the Mar Nubium, or Sea of Clouds, which later was renamed the Mare Cognitum, or "Sea that has Become Known." It is about

Police And FBI Press Hunt For Robber Of Bank

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Police and the FBI planned to press their hunt today for a bandit who robbed a branch bank here Friday of about $2,000 by forcing a teller to walk out of the bank with him as a hostage.

Leo Phillips, manager of the West Side branch of the First National Bank of Mansfield, said the man, wearing a hunting cap with ear flaps, pulled off the robbery while six customers were unaware what was going on.

Phillips said the bandit handed teller Don Wyatt a note ordering him to hand over money from his cage.

"I knew what was going on," Phillips said, "but we didn't want to take any risks." Phillips and Wyatt were working in the same cage.

Wyatt was forced to accompany the man to the far corner of the shopping center and was told to turn around and not look back.

The robber was described as white, in his 40s, about 5-foot-10, wearing glasses, a car-length dark coat and the hunting cap.

ELEGANCE OF DESIGN

Webster defines elegance as being tastefully refined: pleasingly superior in quality or kind. This, in our opinion, is an apt description of much of the fine Danish Modern furniture that we've seen.

The designs have substance, are never novel just for novelty's sake. It is never flimsily made or skimpy because it is crafted with jewel precision. Being light and airy in appearance, it helps to cope with the demands of limited space, and is an excellent choice for rooms that are on the small side.

The beautiful sculptured lines of the Danish Modern furniture shown in the dining room sketched above have been brought into bold focus by using a pale background. The severity of the painted wall has been relieved by nailing narrow furring strips of the same color as the wall at regular intervals to give a dimensional effect.

Strong aquamarine blue accents have been brought in with the area rug, chair and a few accessories and serve as a natural color complement to the handsome Danish Walnut wood finishes.

Circular table extends to dinner-party size when needed. Dining chairs are upholstered in off-white plastic fabric that matches the sparkling tile floor. Larger host chair (aquamarine) serves also as a pull-up chair in an adjoining area.

Introduce color and high style into your rooms with gay area rugs. See our new group of exciting designs soon. Wide range of subtle and vibrant colors in many interesting combinations.

Do you dream of your home as your castle? You should, for that is exactly what you can make it. And we have all the furnishings here for it... in the style or styles you want and at the prices you wish to pay. Do come in soon, won't you?

Bidding For The Driver's Seat

Charles De Gaulle is a man of many moods, most of them unpredictable and implacable.

He can't seem to forget the fancied grievances he stacked up, layer on layer, against the United States and Great Britain during World War II.

As a general who fled the Nazi occupation of France and ever since has nourished resentment over what he considered to be an official snub from the Allied powers, DeGaulle apparently is finding a way to even the score.

While he is conceded to have lifted France from the pit of governmental chaos in the late 50's, it is quite evident now that he is trying to establish it as the balance of power between the Communist and Western worlds.

He is proposing that the world walk away from the United Nations as it is and go back to the starting point of 20 years ago.

BUT HE ALSO proposes that the only other survivor of the Big Five leaders who approved the original U.N. Charter in 1945 be dealt out of the new negotiations. Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China is not to be invited. Communist China, to which France recently extended recognition, would represent China.

We can agree with De Gaulle that the United Nations is in grave crisis and made virtually useless as a peacekeeping organization. Held chiefly responsible for the weakness are the leaders of the Soviet Union and the president of France. Both refuse to pay their share of the costs.

The Security Council, the body originally empowered to keep peace in the world, has been made powerless to act because of Russia's persistent misuse of the veto power. For some years, the majority of the U.N. membership has followed a procedure giving the Assembly power to set up peacekeeping forces.

Now that the Assembly is deadlocked on the payment issue and is unable to act, De Gaulle, who helped to create the crisis, proposes a new conference of the wartime Big Five—U.S., Russia, Britain and France, with Red China taking Nationalist China's place.

De Gaulle would throw the job of peacekeeping back to the Council and its veto, thus making the U.N. powerless to act unless all the Big Five agreed.

AND WHERE would that leave De Gaulle's France?

Squarely in the driver's seat, where the general finds his greatest comfort.

And who gains? Not the Free World—and you can lay odds on it.

Have A Heart!

East Liverpool and area residents will have another opportunity to support a worthy cause when the annual Heart Sunday solicitation takes place tomorrow.

The funds collected will augment those already on hand from special gifts, industry, business solicitations and other Heart Fund activities, climaxing a month-long campaign to expand research, education and community heart programs of the Heart Association of Eastern Ohio, with which Columbiana County is affiliated.

Heart Fund dollars help combat a vast complex of diseases—heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever, inborn heart defects and many others that are responsible for about 54 per cent of all deaths in the nation.

The slogan, "More will live the more you give," sums it up well. Do your part Sunday.

It Could Be A Long Summer

Delegates to the United Nations General Assembly are on their way home after failing for the second time since last December to dissolve the crucial dispute over delinquent payments.

The United States will not wink at the fact 16 members of the General Assembly are in arrears, including the Soviet Union, France and Belgium. Article 19 of the U.N. Charter says members in arrears cannot vote.

With no voting, there is no purpose in continuing the General Assembly.

With no compliance with the U.N. Charter, there is no purpose in continuing the United Nations, itself. This is no imaginary crisis. This is the real thing.

It could mean the end of the peacekeeping experiment the United States put into motion after World War II. It could shatter the dream of collective security as the alternative to the selective insecurity that let the Axis Powers get out of control in World War II.

The question always has been whether the United Nations could survive where the League of Nations failed—whether it would collapse in weakness and confusion when faced with a peremptory challenge by aggressors.

That question now is being answered. The omen is not hopeful.

The General Assembly, unable to vote, has gone home for the summer. It is not scheduled to convene until next September. It could be a long summer.

By next September, the way the international situation has been deteriorating lately, there might be no reason to reconvene for anything but a post mortem.

Call It Freedom Of Choice

This is National Advertising Week. Newspapers pay special attention to it, because they are the pioneer medium of modern advertising and because advertising underpins not only freedom of the press but freedom of choice.

Both are essential to the way of life we cherish in America.

Without the highly developed techniques of modern advertising, the wide range of choice we are accustomed to in both commerce and thought could not exist.

Thanks to advertising, we always have available the argument for the competing product, the competing purveyor of goods and services, the contrary opinion in the realm of ideas.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: I couldn't agree with you more about the folly of expecting too much from the people we rely on to solve our problems.

As one of your other readers pointed out recently, our peerless leaders must get into their pants one leg at a time like the rest of us and some days they can't even get out of bed to put their pants on.

Two things about expecting too much have struck me with extra force.

One is the ridiculous notion that educators can wave a magic wand and make educable or at least trainable all the school dropouts who can't get jobs because they have no education.

The educators will get no further with these people the second time around than they did the first time. All but a few dropped out because they lacked ability to stick with it.

We might as well face it. Some of our fellow humans cannot be educated. Some cannot even be trained.

THE OTHER ridiculous notion is that all kooks who run amuck and hurt people can be spotted before they have a chance to do damage and put back on the track by psychiatric care. Nonsense.

It would be as reasonable to say all physical cripples can be made whole. It takes all kinds of people to make a world, including kooks.

Why don't we face it? We always will have among us dimwits and nitwits.

There always will be the possibility, moreover, that some bright people will run amuck. Matter of fact, it's a probability.

It isn't the village idiot who brings grief to the world. It's the otherwise bright citizen who turns sour—the one with the wit and imagination to go berserk with a vengeance.

And when it's a matter of protecting society against so-called sex crimes, that's a puzzler. The latest case—the young fellow in Cleveland who kidnapped the little girl—was a dead end. They had no chance of pinning a sex charge on the fellow under the law. He hadn't done anything wrong in that regard.

I see by the paper he finally saved everybody a lot of trouble by hanging himself in his cell. Could he have been brought around by psychiatry? I doubt it.

I THINK psychiatrists must be starting to worry about popular overconfidence in their prowess. They are being put on the spot, like educators and other medical doctors.

They know their limitations. They never can be sure what they might be able to do, but they know what they cannot do. I remember old Doc Preston saying that was the most important thing to learn about medicine—what not to try to do.

Who knows? Maybe someday our statesmen and militarists will learn what not to try to do, too. They're having plenty of chances to learn.

Your Aunt Effie sends regards and reminds you it is still too soon to take off your thermal underwear.

Throw The Bum Out!

Soviet Rebuilds Its Forces In Cuba

By Victor Riesel

SAN JUAN, P.R. Unbeknown to the American public, which has been absorbed in the Asian crisis, the Soviet Union has rebuilt its forces in Cuba into a powerful mobile army, air force and navy.

The Russians now command many squads of missiles, swift MIGs and groups of surface and underwater fighting craft nesting in newly built "fishing" pens along the Cuban coast.

All this and many more startling details of the new Soviet build-up are disclosed in a dramatic memorandum recently dispatched by the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba to a small number of leading Americans.

THE VITAL importance of this communication lies in the prominence and responsibility of the committee's 42 members—among whom are men linked to global intelligence services, labor leaders with far flung contacts on several continents and the nuclear scientist Edward Teller.

Furthermore this document has just been checked by this column with seafarers who ship in and out of the many Caribbean islands and with members of the Cuban Refugee Labor Federation, who have been conferring here these last few days.

These men, who slip into Cuba regularly, confirm the reports of the free Cuba committee which has its headquarters in Washington.

According to the committee, the Russians have quietly beefed up their land forces to a minimum of 26,000 Soviet regular troops. There are sources which say the Red force runs as high as 40,000 troops.

THE FREE CUBA committee states that there are now inside Cuba:

One motorized infantry division, composed of some 16,000 to 18,000 shock troops.

Four tank battalions—light, medium, heavy.

Four battalions of "Frog" missiles capable of mounting nuclear warheads.

Twenty-one ground-to-air missile installations, manned by 6,000 Soviet and satellite-bloc soldiers and military technicians.

At least 150 SA-2 missiles, controlled by some 2,000 Soviet soldiers.

These men also handle radar and missile detection systems. There are 150 MIGs—types 15, 17, 19, 21.

Backing them up are Ilyushin 14s and Ilyushin 28s operating out of three underground hangar systems.

Thus, says the Free Cuba Committee, the Soviets again are on a "collision course" with the United States.

Anti-Castro labor exiles who have just come here from Western Hemisphere parleys in Central America, report that the new Soviet concentration of forces came after a secret pact between Moscow and Havana some time last year.

The Soviets intensified their buildup after turning Nikita Khrushchev into an unperson.

The Brezhnev-Shelepin-Kosygin collective leadership apparently decided that the Castro brothers would not "Tito" to Peking.

SINCE THEN the Russians have skillfully exploited the bearded figure of Fidel Castro by exalting his image through their extraordinary propaganda machine in Latin America.

This campaign has been so successful that throughout the Caribbean, Central and South America the talk no longer is of Moscow Communism, or Sino-Communism or Mao or Lenin but of Castro Communism.

Last November the politburos of the Soviet's 22 Latin Communist parties were summoned to a special plenum session in Havana. They were told that "Fidel" would be the nominal Communist leader from then on.

Thus the Soviets assured themselves of the Castro brothers' loyalty and outmaneuvered the distant Chinese mainlanders.

In addition to handing Fidel this propaganda triumph, the Soviets agreed to supply the necessary equipment for terrorist attacks in Latin America—especially against U.S. installations—much in the grim manner of the Viet Cong guerrillas.

Countries especially selected for such attacks are Peru, Venezuela, Colombia, Haiti, Guatemala, Honduras and Paraguay.

THE FIRST of such raids hit a U.S. military mission in Peru earlier this month. Others will follow. The Russians realize this terrorism can have little real impact despite the bloody nature of the assaults.

But the Soviets are willing to humor the Castros as long as the Cuban government does not make it awkward for Moscow to maintain a big military base on the island.

If Havana and Moscow deny such a build up, there is a simple way to learn quickly exactly what "hardware" the Soviets have merely 90 miles off the U.S. coast.

The Russians can fulfill their promise to facilitate neutral inspection of Cuba. It will be recalled they made such a promise during the near collision back in 1962.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW: I read with interest the plans of the City Veterans Council for the permanent war memorial.

Think it is the best thing to come up at this time. Let's all get behind them and honor our veterans of all the wars. Also, I think it would be fitting to our city and country to have the memorial put up before next Nov. 11.

"Calamity Jane" was the nickname of Martha Jane Canary, a famous American frontierswoman, who lived from 1852 to 1903. She was given the nickname because she used to warn men that to offend her was a court calamity. A skilled horsewoman and an expert with a rifle and revolver, she usually dressed in men's clothes and served as a scout for some of the U. S. Cavalry detachments in the West.

Coalition Outlook

By David Lawrence

Democratic Majority Faces Possible Threat

Although the current Congress has been in session only a few weeks, it's already apparent that the overwhelming majority Democratic party last autumn can be overturned at will by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats who may wish to oppose certain measures of the Johnson administration.

While coalitions have been in existence in both houses for the last 30 years, the new combination of Republican and Democratic votes is not likely to emerge on the same issues as have arisen in the past. Thus, on civil rights questions, the coalition isn't able to command a majority because the Northern Republicans vote with the Northern Democrats and this constitutes a big majority.

It is, however, on economic issues which appeal to non-radical members in both parties that significant votes will be taken. One example is labor legislation.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON recently recommended that the Taft-Hartley Act be amended so as to permit compulsory unionization in all states which now have laws against it.

This is a question loaded with trouble even for the labor unions themselves, which are espousing the change. Once Congress begins to debate any change in the Taft-Hartley Act, there are certain to be counter-demands for strict regulation of strikes and also the internal affairs of labor unions, especially as they approach monopolistic practices.

If such an issue came to a vote today, it seems certain that a majority would be found in the House of Representatives as well as in the Senate to prevent the passage of any one-sided legislation which would give the labor unions advantages they have not heretofore possessed.

There are other issues, too, on which a coalition will make itself felt. Such instances, however, will not be frequent and the coalitions power will not be exercised except on very important legislation which could have repercussions in the next campaign.

In the congressional election of 1966, which is about 20 months away, all members of the House and the one-third of the Senate who will be seeking reelection will not be able to ride along on the coattails of the President, as was the case in 1964.

THIS MEANS that throughout the United States the contests will be local. While a certain hard core of citizens in both parties vote the regular ticket anyway, there are many independents who swing from one side to the other in congressional elections.

There are, moreover, many Democrats who were elected in the landslide of last autumn with a narrow majority and this could easily be wiped out in the next congressional election. More and more, therefore, the new members will be watching popular trends.

Perhaps the most striking example, however, of the influence of a coalition on domestic affairs was given in a little noticed vote recorded early in the session when there was a technical motion before the House of Representatives dealing with rules changes.

The administration's request was granted and increased power was placed in the hands of the speaker so that he can force action on legislation but the administration motion to prohibit any amendment to the package on rules question received 224 votes, while 201 were cast against it.

THESE 201 votes constituted a coalition of 78 Democrats and 123 Republicans. The 224 votes on the administration's side consisted of 208 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

If only 12 of the 16 defecting Republicans had stayed with the Republican majority and voted with the 78 Democrats, the administration would have been handed a serious and lasting defeat, and whatever rules changes were voted in the end would have been materially reduced in scope.

It could be argued that the Republicans on the opening day were in disarray, as they had just gone through a contest over their leadership but the episode indicated nevertheless that House Democrats in large numbers showed they could vote independently of the White House. In fact, in the Senate this independence is even more apparent than in the House.

ONE THING is clear—the Democratic party cannot command a majority without the aid of certain "liberal" Republicans, and the customary coalition cannot prevail today unless nearly all of the Republicans vote with the conservative Democrats, most of whom are from Southern states.

It's not certain yet whether the Southern Democrats who may find themselves up against Republican nominees in the next election will veer more toward the administration or away from it, but sentiment in the South has changed very little on basically conservative issues.

It looks, therefore, like an indefinite period of bipartisan coalition which at least can be described as nonradical, if not conservative.

Road Signs

A simple new form of hieroglyphics is replacing words on the world's road signs.

American tourists, driving abroad, don't need a Rosetta stone to learn the symbols quickly, the National Geographic Society notes. A red circular sign with a horizontal white bar means "Don't Enter"—whether it bars the way in Paris, Rome, or Amsterdam.

Identical bright signs that suggest cartoons sprout beside streets and highways from Norway to Cambodia. Some 35 nations have adopted a system of standard symbols worked out by the United Nations Conference on Road and Motor Transport in 1949.

The symbols alert motorists to scores of situations. The outline of a swerving auto with skid marks indicates a slippery road ahead. A puffing locomotive signifies a rail crossing without gates. A silhouette of children with books needs no explanation.

The international road signs have three basic shapes. A triangle warns of danger. A circular sign gives instructions that must be obeyed. A rectangular marker contains information. For instance, a red cross in a rectangle tells motorists that a hospital or first-aid station is nearby.

Odd Facts

The lightest wood in commerce is balsa, and the lightest kinds of balsa wood weigh about seven pounds a cubic foot, about a fourth the weight of cork. Balsa is light because air fills its cells when the wood is dried out. It is used in the manufacture of certain kinds of airplanes, life preservers, life rafts, floats and buoys, and it is also used as an insulating material in incubators, and in refrigerator trucks and cars.

Ranger

1,000 miles west of the Sea of Tranquility.

Tranquility is lighter than Cognium. Scientists believe this may mean its surface is smoother and thus more suitable for man's landings, planned for this decade. Findings of the Ranger series—another shot is slated for next month—are expected to help in design of moon landing equipment and selection of the astronauts' landing point.

Field of vision for Ranger 8's cameras ranged from an area of 200 by 300 miles at camera turn-on, down to an area the size of a city lot in the final second.

This was the sequence of events as Ranger 8 approached the moon: Ninety minutes before impact, engineers at Goldstone Tracking Station, 150 miles east of Pasadena, sent a series of commands calling for a final maneuver, then sent another command to cancel it.

This was necessary because a pre-impact maneuver to line up the cameras, if necessary, was built into the spacecraft's electronic brain, and it might have become confused if the regular sequence was disturbed. Late Friday night, however, scientists decided the maneuver would not be necessary.

Twenty-five minutes before impact the cameras were ordered to warm up and two minutes later the cameras started clicking and transmitting pictures to earth.

headquarters at 3 p.m. that his southbound car was struck by a northbound driver who failed to stop.

He told officers the mishap occurred on Walnut St., about 75 feet south of E. 5th St. The left front fender, headlight, hood, grille and bumper of his 1961 sedan were damaged, the Pennsylvania said.

At 3:04 p.m., Mrs. Reight's car tore out four guard posts on the "Hill Rd.," about 75 feet east of the junction with E. 4th St.

Patrolman S. E. Hayes said evidence at the scene indicated the car went too far to the right and finally came to a halt partially over the steep embankment.

The damage to the Reight car has not been determined, police said.

Walter G. Adkins, 45, of Chester R. D. 1 was treated at City Hospital at 4:50 p.m. for a whiplash neck injury received when the car in which he was a passenger was struck in the rear in an East End mishap.

Adkins was in a 1965 sedan driven by John R. Stover, 30, of Chester R. D. 1 when it was hit by the skidding auto operated by Audrey Thomas, 58, of 400 Water St., Salineville, police said.

The Salineville motorist applied the brakes to halt in a line of traffic at Pennsylvania and Oakland Aves. but the 1962 auto began to slide and struck the rear of Stover's car, police were told. It was time at 2:14 p.m.

A mishap at 11:23 a.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." involved a westbound auto operated by Betty J. Smith, 22, of 8 Sycamore St., Salineville, and an eastbound car of Allen McIntosh, 35, of Lisbon St.

The Salineville woman said the rear of her car started to slide and as she attempted to straighten up the car the left rear hit the front of the car operated by McIntosh and owned by Eleanor Barcus, 2101 Ohio Ave.

Patricia M. Oliver, 28, of Coral Gables, Fla., told officers she was headed west on W. 7th St. at 2:49 p.m. when she lost control on the snow and hit the rear of the parked auto of Norman Vincent, 25 1/2 W. 7th St.

The woman was driving a 1952 auto owned by Herbert D. Oliver of Barborton.

A crash at 7:04 p.m. at Summit Ln. and Jackson St. involved a 1958 hardtop operated by Elson St. and a Golden Star Dairy truck operated by Clarence E. Gilchrist, 42, of Dunn Rd.

Bender said he was headed west in the alley and saw the dairy truck making the turn, but skidded on the ice into the left front of the truck.

Autos operated by Robert M. Reed, 48, of 12 Fairview St., Chester, and Joseph W. D'Alessio, 18, of Dairy Ln. were involved in a mishap at 10:50 p.m. at E. 4th and Elm Sts.

The drivers said D'Alessio was descending the grade when his car started to skid and struck the eastbound car operated by Reed.

Friday morning, a 1963 Chevrolet coupe driven by Richard S. Novakovich of Campbell, skidded into the 1960 Dodge coupe of Richard D. Sprout of R.D. 1, at 6th St. and Carolina Ave.

Damage was minor in each crash and no one was hurt, Police Chief Harold Davis said.

Woman Praised For Alertness In Reporting Entry

An unidentified woman, whose alertness led to the capture of two burglars in an E. 3rd St. service station early Friday, was praised today by Police Chief Americo Radeschi.

"If more citizens will co-operate with police, there will be more apprehensions," Chief Radeschi said, pointing out that too many people do not want "to become involved."

However, there is no need for the caller to identify himself in such cases, the chief continued.

explaining police will quickly check out the call.

The woman called police after she heard breaking glass and spotted a man inside Cooper's Amoco Station, 206 E. 3rd St. Police nabbed Carl Lee Hawk Jr., 1615 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, and William K. Hunt, 121 Market St., East Liverpool, in the station. They are awaiting hearings Wednesday in Municipal Court on burglary charges.

Patrol Cites 5 Autoists In 4 Road Mishaps

Five motorists were cited as the result of four area accidents Friday, three of which were blamed directly on the icy and snow-covered highways, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

A car operated by Paul F. Tilton, 18, of R. D. 1 and a semi-tractor trailer truck driven by Paul Rey, 46, of Mercer, Pa., were involved in a collision last night at 8:45 on Route 30 about 50 feet south of the Route 170 intersection.

Officers said Tilton had halted on the highway and was struck in the rear by Rey. Tilton was cited for stopping on the roadway and Rey for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Cars driven by William Robert Matthews, 46, of Negley R.D. 1 and Charles Raymond Clemenson, 62, of R. D. 1 collided on Route 170 a mile east of Route 30 yesterday morning at 7:40.

Matthews was stopped along the highway when the Clemenson car slid and hit the rear of his car. Clemenson was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

A car driven by Gene Leonard Stryfeler, 21, of East Rochester R. D. 1 skidded into the path of one driven by John Martin Summer, 24, of Kensington yesterday at 7:30 a. m. on Route 30 west of Kensington. Moderate damage resulted to both vehicles and Stryfeler was cited for speed in excess of road conditions.

A car driven by Robert Lewis Noel, 20, of Rogers R. D. 1 skidded on a curve into the side of one driven by Harry Felger, 69, of East Palestine at 8:35 a. m. on Route 170 two-tenths a mile north of Route 154.

Noel's car was damaged extensively. He was cited for speed in excess of road conditions.

Officers also investigated four other accidents in the upper part of the county yesterday, all blamed on slippery roads.

Mrs. Oliveri told police she struggled with the man who walked up behind her and grabbed the purse. The strap was hooked over her arm, and the man knocked her to the sidewalk in the struggle.

After she fell, the purse was jerked loose, leaving her with the handle. The man fled on foot.

Police said her loss included some personal papers, a bank books besides the cash.

Would Cut Campus Aid

Senator Presses More Funds For Branch Colleges

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Working quietly behind the scenes here, a state senator is lining up support for a showdown over what may become a turning point in Ohio higher education financing.

In the next few days, Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, will huddle with House members who represent counties which have received or are about to receive state university branch facilities.

His aim is to build bipartisan backing for his contention that it's time to restrict state funds for main campus expansion in order to pump more money into branch development.

Pepple, who employs a thunder-and-lightning technique in most endeavors, is proceeding with caution on this issue which could generate some sparks of its own.

He knows he will encounter opposition from at least some state university officials if he follows through with his proposal. Almost certain to be among them is Ohio State University President Novice G. Fawcett.

Ohio State is in the midst of a huge campus expansion project which, according to some reports, could boost OSU's potential on-campus enrollment to near 75,000. Enrollment now is about 36,000 and Pepple thinks that's more than enough.

Wants Bigger Campus First

Fawcett is not particularly interested in pursuing further branch development until the OSU campus project is wrapped up.

Pepple, who has an OSU branch practically in his backyard at Lima, has more than a legislative interest in Fawcett's attitude.

The outspoken senator championed the branch university cause back in 1963.

As chairman of the Senate Education Committee, a post he no longer holds, Pepple authored the resolution that led to the $250 million capital improvements bond issue. The bulk of that money was earmarked for higher education, including branches.

Likes Decentralization

Pepple's theory now is that decentralization is the only plausible way to provide educational opportunity to more Ohioans.

He believes Ohio has been too slow in developing the branch university concept and must channel more funds into the program if it intends to continue making college education available to all comers.

Funds for the centralized universities should be limited to current operations and development of graduate school facilities, he believes. Pepple envisions the day when most students will complete their undergraduate work at branch universities, using the main campus for extra degree studies.

May Be in Finance

Although he's no longer on the Education Committee, Pepple is expected to be in position soon to have a major say in higher education financing.

Under an agreement hatched earlier this year, he is to succeed Sen. William Deddens, R-Hamilton, as chairman of the Finance Committee. This switch may come about in the next few weeks.

In that post, Pepple would direct hearings on all appropriations measures reaching the Senate.

As evidenced by the recent furor over public school financing, Pepple's views are not always popular but he clings to them with the tenacity of a bulldog. He knows from experience, however, he will need legislative support if he hopes to succeed in his branch vs. main campus education concept.

Feels He's on Right Track

He began by tapping the sentiment of his Senate colleagues who represent districts containing branches. He came away from that meeting confident he's on the right track.

And, perhaps more important, he has at least the implied support of Gov. James A. Rhodes, who laid strong emphasis on branch university facilities in his "state of the state" message last Monday.

Postscript

Ohio voters may have something to say about how long the 106th General Assembly remains in session.

Veteran legislators who look for a short session ending no later than May point to the coming primaries in qualifying their predictions.

Four major constitutional amendment proposals will be riding the ballot. A defeat of one or more of these, particularly reapportionment of the Ohio House, could mean a summer session to repair the damage.

Ohioan Drops Citizenship To Fight With Mercenaries

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—A young Ohioan has renounced his citizenship to fight with white mercenaries in the Congo, and his family back home says its good news—they thought he was dead.

A consular official in Leopoldville, the Congo, announced yesterday that Ronald Douglas Duka, 25, of Wadsworth, signed away his American citizenship and surrendered his passport Feb. 4.

"We thought he was dead," his sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul P. Duka Jr., said when informed of the news. "I am so glad to hear he is alive."

She said the family last heard from Ronald two years ago, when he was in California.

The sister-in-law said Ronald's mother, Mrs. Roy Myers of Wadsworth, had been "worried sick" over the fate of her son.

The young man's father, Paul P. Duka, lives in Mentor.

In Leopoldville, U. S. vice consul Alfred E. Daiboch, who administered the oath of renunciation to young Duka, said "I did everything I could to persuade him not to do it."

He said Duka is now classified as a stateless person.

Duka came to the Congo, he said, in January from Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, to enlist in Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenary force.

American law bars U. S. citizens from joining foreign armies on pain of losing their citizenship.

House Group Sidetracks Liquor Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—One "wet" versus "dry" issue apparently has been settled in the House of Delegates, while another has been sidetracked by the House Rules Committee.

One controversy apparently died down when the House passed the so-called "rainmaking bill" by a 98-1 vote Friday.

But a Senate-passed bill which would loosen the laws on possession of liquor faced delaying tactics in the Rules Committee.

The committee, meeting after House adjournment for the week end, failed to place the liquor bill on the special calendar for Monday's session.

The Rules Committee in each house decides which bills go to the floor when special calendars go into effect Monday. The committees can take bills off the list or put them on at any time.

The liquor bill, sponsored by Sen. Chester R. Hubbard, R-Hubbard, R-Ohio, was approved by the Senate Feb. 3 and cleared the House Temperance Committee Thursday.

The bill would allow a person to keep liquor in places other than his home — his club, for instance — and would permit a person to have someone else buy liquor for him.

In action across the hall Friday, the Senate approved a bill which would improve on-the-job injury benefits. The workmen's compensation bill, supported by Gov. Hulett Smith and organized labor, raises the maximum weekly benefit for workers temporarily disabled by on-the-job injuries from $38 to $42. It also loosens limits on medical payments from $2,400 to $3,000.

The bill now goes to the House after the 33-0 Senate vote.

Wellsburg Man Faces Grand Jury For Theft

WHEELING (AP)—A Wellsburg man accused of the $3,200 robbery of the Wheeling Community Savings & Loan Association office has been held for grand jury action.

Robert V. Degarmo, 28, is held in lieu of $10,000 bond. He was apprehended in Orlando, Fla., a week ago.

Barry Fears U.S. Wants To Quit Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barry Goldwater says he fears the Johnson administration really wants to withdraw U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

"I join with my former colleagues of the House and Senate in backing 100 per cent the actions of the President against the Communists," Goldwater said Friday night.

"But I don't want this to be a prelude to turning our tail and coming home, and I have a terrible feeling, knowing this organization as I do, this is exactly what they have in mind."

The defeated Republican presidential nominee told about 1,000 cheering Young Republicans at a dinner that freedom and U.S. honor are at stake in the struggle in South Viet Nam.

And, Goldwater said, Johnson was heeding Republican advice when he sent U.S. warplanes to strike Communist bases in the north.

"We have warned them about South Viet Nam," the former Arizona Senator said. "We've reminded them what happened in Laos and what's going to happen in the rest of Southeast Asia if we don't take some firmness."

Goldwater had this reaction to calls — in the Senate and elsewhere — for consideration of U.S. withdrawal: "Those timid souls amongst us who have no respect for the honor of our nation, who now want us to come home dishonorably, should hang their heads in shame."

For his own party, Goldwater counseled tolerance — but added it would be "moral suicide" for Republicans to adopt Democratic programs in an effort to win votes.

"I'd like to issue a warning," he said. "I don't want to see the Republican party become the captive of Democratic programs or principles."

Goldwater drew applause by declaring that if he had it to do again, he would vote against the 1964 civil rights bill on constitutional grounds.

Goldwater added that Republicans "are never going to get any place by trying to write somebody out of the party.

"I say to my liberal friends, if you want to take control of the party, try your darndest," he said. "I say to my conservative friends, if you want to retain control, work."

Goldwater, whose candidacy was spurned by some liberal Republicans, urged the party to "forget the stupidity with which we acted in 1964."

"I will work for a Republican — I don't care who he is," Goldwater said.

Draft Board Will Send 9 Inductees March 2

LISBON — Columbiana County Draft Board 16 will send nine men for induction March 2 and 70 for pre-induction physicals on March 17. This will complete the call for March.

Thirty-eight will go for physicals Tuesday to complete the February call, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk of the board.

To All Milk Producers In The Northeastern Ohio Marketing Area:

WHO'S BLOCKING THE $5 YEAR-ROUND MILK PRICE FOR FARMERS?

The Lawson Milk Company has publicly been accused of holding up a guaranteed $5 year-round milk price for dairy farmers in this area. Here are the facts:

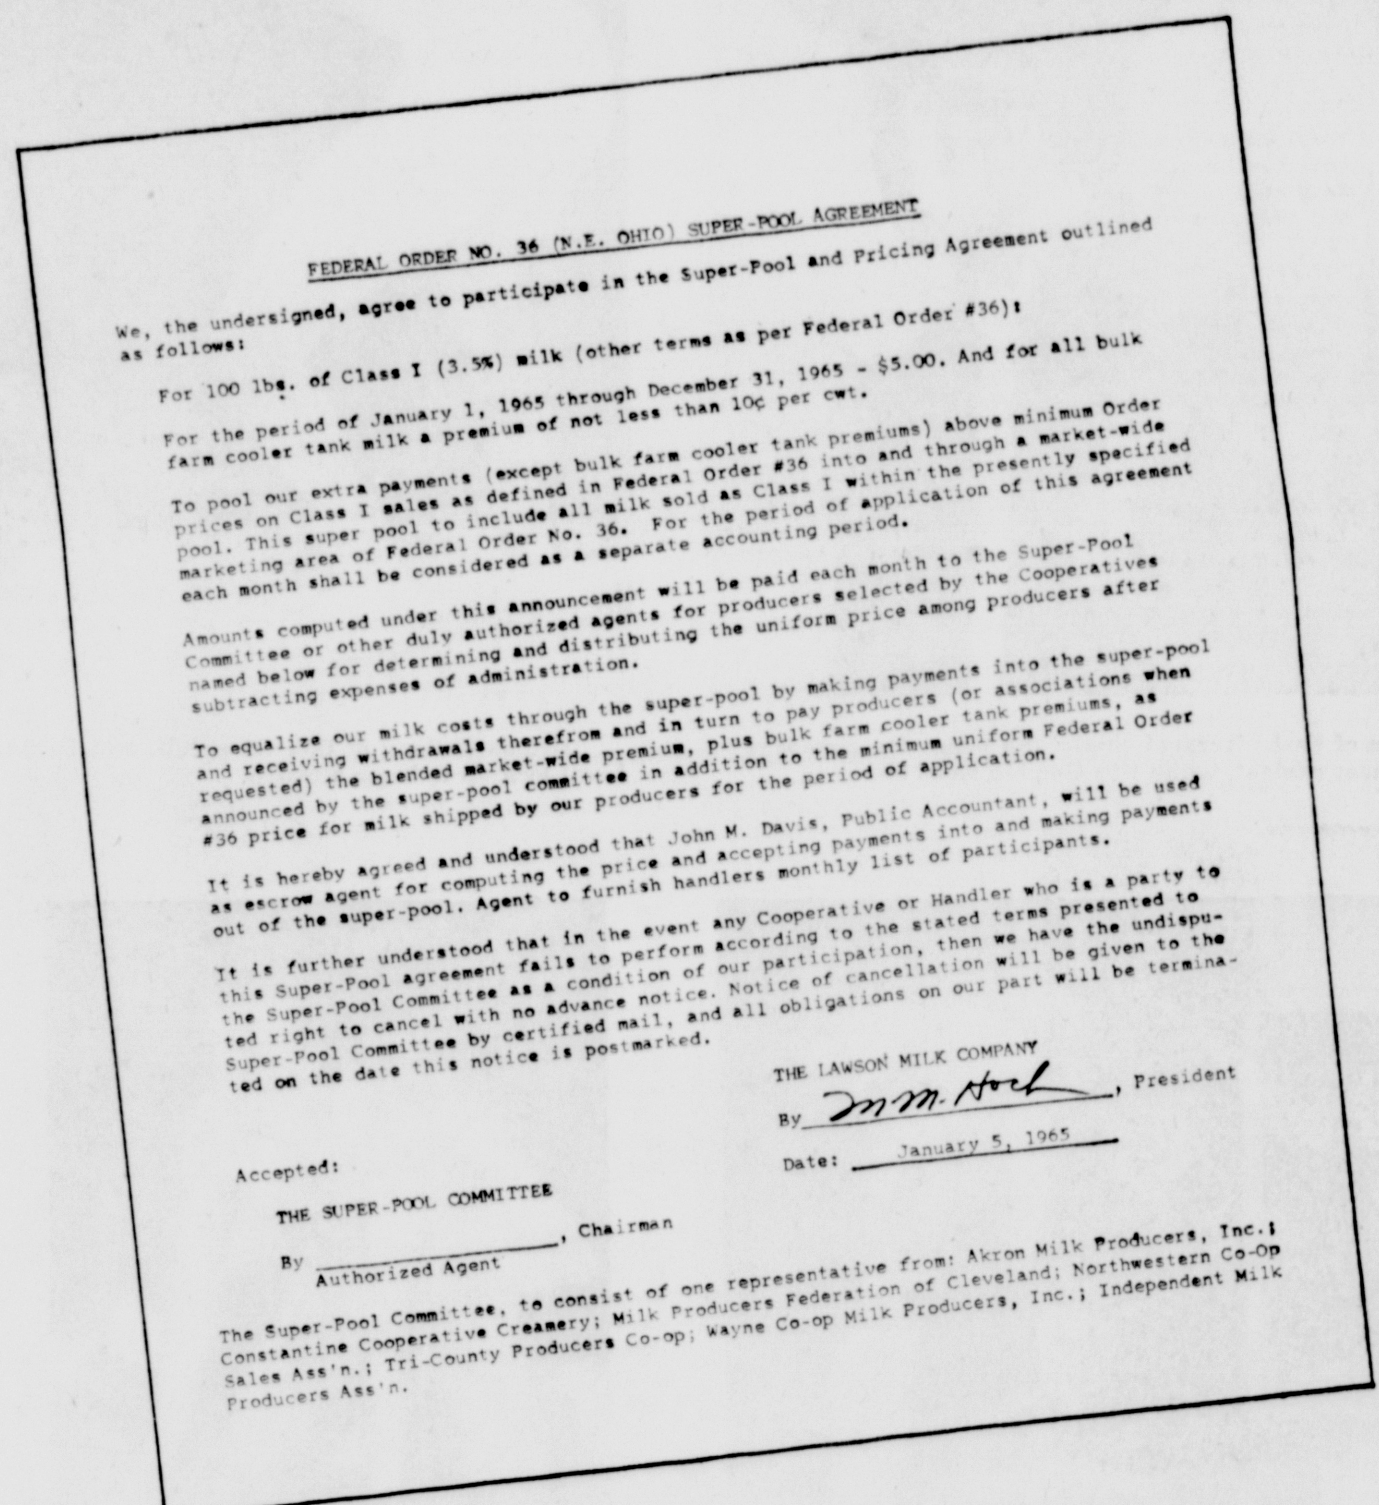

Reproduced below is an agreement submitted to the super-pool bargaining committee on January 5, 1965, by Lawson's.

It guarantees a $5 Class I year-round price to all producers shipping into the area covered by Federal Order #36.

It provides for the same terms and conditions as the super-pool agreement of 1962-63, in which Lawson's participated.

It has been signed by Lawson's. Only the signature of the chairman of the super-pool committee and the agreement of other handlers are needed to make it effective.

Weeks have passed since the agreement was submitted. It is now past the middle of February —and Lawson's is still being accused of blocking the $5 year-round price. Yet it is obvious that The Lawson Milk Company is willing to participate in such an agreement. Why the delay?

Whether the agreement is signed or not, Lawson's producers will still be protected by Lawson's pricing policy. In the simplest possible terms, it is this:

- Year in and year out, we meet or exceed any marketwide negotiated price.
- We guarantee a market, in writing, without permit fees, building funds, service fees, advertising deductions, or membership dues.

(During the past year alone, the extra income received by Lawson producers from bonuses and company-paid fees came to $450 for the average producer and as much as $1450 for the larger ones. These figures do not include the savings to Lawson producers on farm supplies, field services, and other benefits.)

This policy will be continued. Lawson producers will be protected, super-pool or not. If the dairy farmers throughout this area want a $5 guaranteed milk price all year, they can have one without further delay by encouraging their representatives to sign the super-pool agreement promptly.

We repeat: Lawson's has already signed.

Wrestling As A Science

District's High School Teams Grapple For Keeps,
Not For Showmanship A La Matches On Television

By ROBERT DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

If you attend a high school wrestling match, don't expect to see Haystack Calhoun throw his opponent through the ropes or a Chief White Owl use a "sleeper hold."

The high school grapplers leave the dramas to the professionals and stick strictly to the fine science of the ancient sport.

In the Tri-State District wrestling is reaching its peak for the season with four district high school teams already involved or about to enter tournament competition.

This season, two area schools — Oak Glen and Beaver Local — are playing host to the tournaments. Oak Glen was the site of a regional tournament today while Beaver Local will be the center of Sectional competition next Friday and Saturday.

East Liverpool enters into tournament wrestling next Saturday at Martins Ferry and South Side will compete at Trinity High School at Washington, Pa., Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

NOT ALL HIGH schools in the district have wrestling teams. The sport has been found to serve as a good conditioner for husky football players as well as providing competition for boys of lighter weights.

Unlike the professionals, high school competition is set up in a weight class and opponents must weigh approximately the same. If a wrestler is too far over his weight when the time comes to weigh in, he forfeits the match.

Feature Pages

There is a spot on the wrestling team for about any shape and size. Some states start classification at 88 pounds and go to what is termed as the heavyweight or unlimited class.

A wrestling team usually consists of 12 or 13 members, depending on whether the weight class starts at 88 or 98 pounds.

A high school match is decided by points awarded by the referee. Each match is six minutes long, divided into three 2-minute periods.

A MATCH BEGINS with both opponents standing. The second and third periods are started from a referee's position with both wrestlers on the mat.

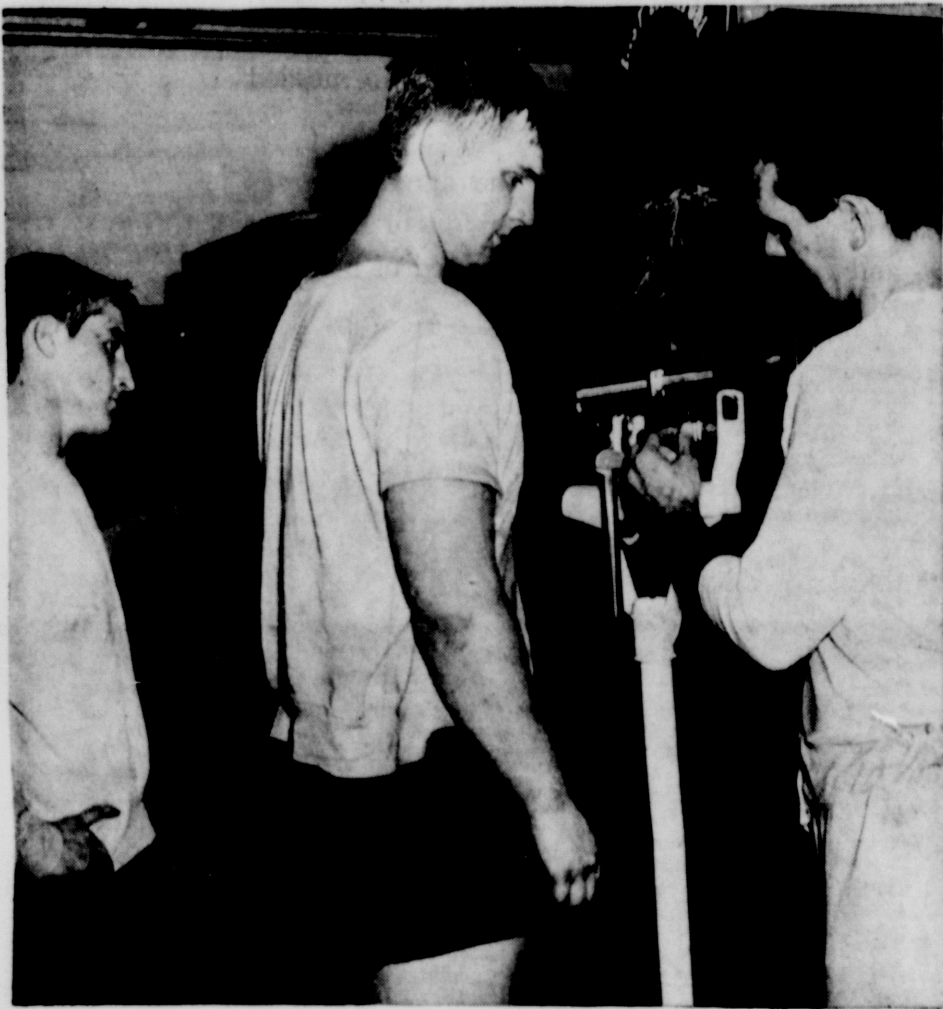

Points are awarded for a take down, near fall, escape, predicament, reversal and time advantage.

A wrestler winning a decision gains three points for his team while a pin is worth five points. In Pennsylvania, a first period pin nets a team six points. Five points also are awarded for a forfeit or default.

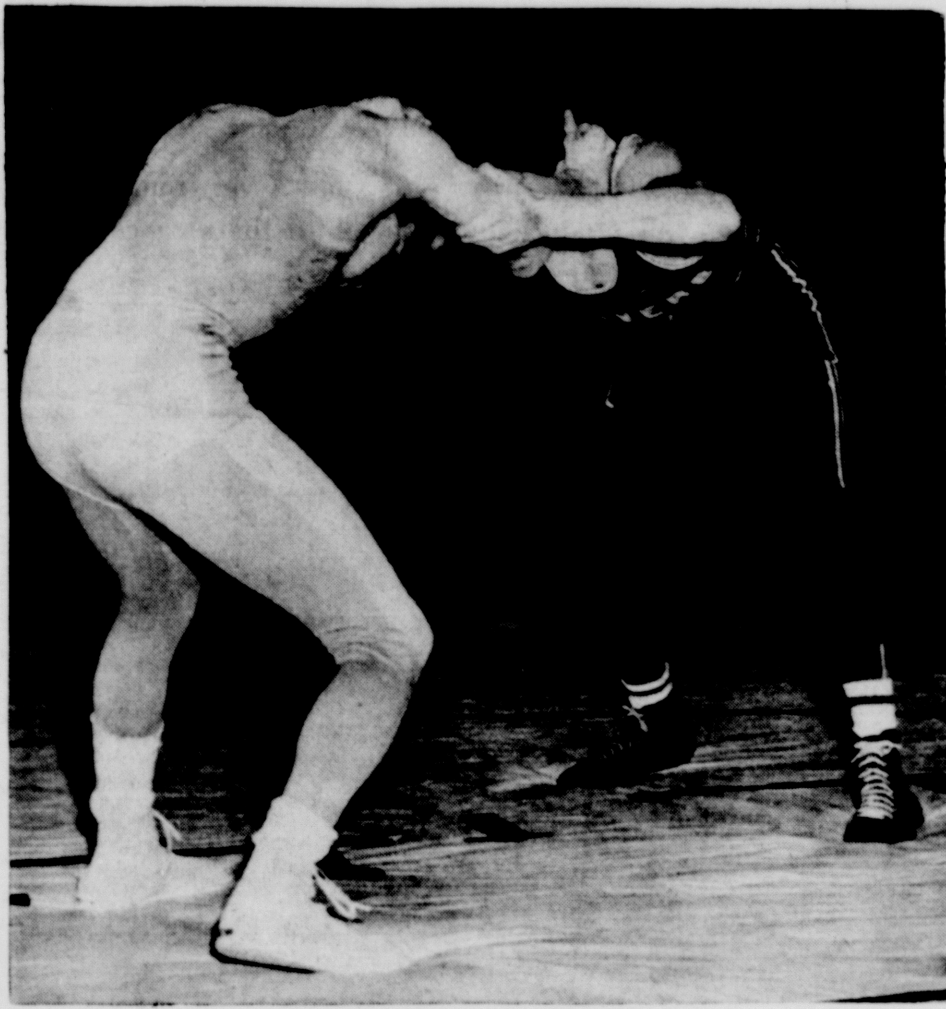

East Liverpool has had a wrestling program since 1947 and was the only high school in the area to participate in the sport until Beaver Local, South Side and Oak Glen schools were built and put wrestling in varsity competition.

Beaver Local became a stronghold of wrestling soon after the program was introduced. The Beavers had one winning wrestling season after another and their wrestlers won several individual state championships.

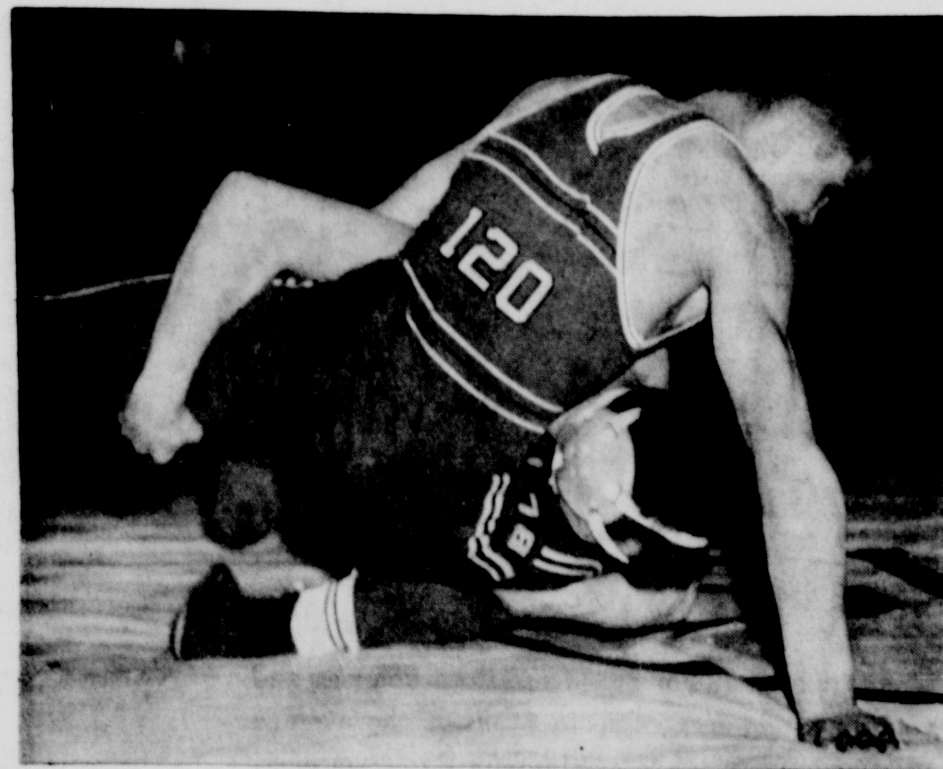

Beaver Local was awarded the Sectional Tournament this year. Matches will begin next Friday at 6 p.m. and continue Saturday at 1.

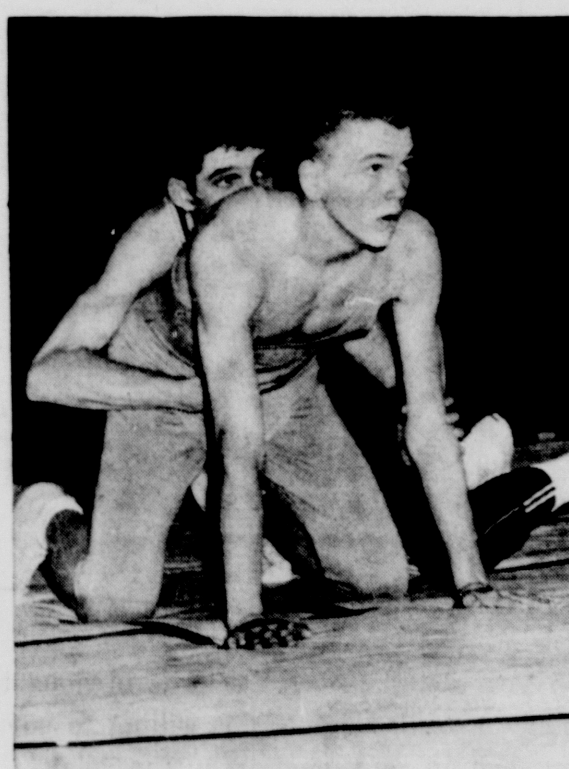

Coach Dick Bryan of East Liverpool checks the scales for poundage on Charles Taylor, a heavyweight, while Bob Gamble looks on.

Dennis Wilfong of Oak Glen, left, and Farnum Shasteen of Beaver Local lock up to begin a match.

Oak Glen's Dave Price, bottom, gets a takedown on Beaver Local's Tom Passage.

In the referee's position are Rick Price of Oak Glen, front, and Bruce Evans of Beaver Local.

Ralph Smith, left, pulls a switch as he "sits out" on Whit Foster during an East Liverpool practice session.

East Liverpool's Bob Marshall, top, demonstrates an illegal hold on teammate Jack Watkins. High school wrestlers are not permitted to lock hands on an opponent while on the mat.

One of the hold combinations used at South Side is called the "guillotine," as shown by Kit Hughes in pinning Jim McCoy, front.

‘Hi, Hydrant!’

‘Lo, Plug!’

A sort of Mutt and Jeff fire accessory arrangement has existed for many years on Walnut St., confusing many pedestrians who view what they believe is an unusual pairing of a short and tall hydrant.

Actually, the larger metal fixture against which junior firemen Terry Rall, 5, of Auburn St. is leaning is a valve which services a sprinkler system at the nearby Star Furniture store building.

The building was formerly an office of the long extinct Knowles, Taylor and Knowles Co. pottery which had extensive sprinkler lines controlled by the sidewalk shut-off valves, as did several other potteries in the city.

Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Rall, agrees with most onlookers that the red and white pair is symbolic of the long and short of water line fire protection.

Heads Theological Seminary

Guide For Bible Study Written

By Husband Of Ex-City Woman

By CLARA HALL

A study book currently used by district church groups has been authorized by a noted theological figure with many East Liverpool connections and married to a former city woman.

Dr. Donald G. Miller, president of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, wrote "Live As Free Men," a guide designed to encourage firsthand inductive study of "The Letter of Paul to the Galatians."

Dr. Miller, whose wife is the former Eleanor Chambers, has included thought questions printed alongside the text of the letter which will assist the reader analyzing the issues with which Paul deals and their relevance to the life of the church today. He also collaborated with Suzanne de Dietrich on an accompanying book, "Free Men," concerning meditations on the Bible today.

DR. MILLER MET Eleanor Chambers when they were students at the Biblical Seminary in New York. She is the daughter of Mrs. Hubert C. Chambers of Pittsburgh and the late Dr. Chambers who once lived on Pennsylvania Ave. in the East End. They were missionaries in the United Presbyterian Church of North America for about 40 years, retiring in 1943.

Dr. Chambers died in 1957 at their home in Daytona Beach, Fla., where they were living following retirement. His wife, Mrs. Ethel Chambers, for whom the Women's Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian Church was named, resides with the Millers at Shadyside, Pittsburgh.

Pastor, teacher, writer, preacher, scholar and president describe Donald G. Miller appropriately. Warm-hearted, good-humored and a marvelous storyteller. He is the kind of man, who, despite a back-breaking schedule and work load, suddenly appears in the hallway to thank a salesman for the service he is rendering the seminary family.

Dr. Miller was born in Braddock, a suburb of Pittsburgh, and received his early education at the schools of Pittsburgh and Uniontown. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Greenville (Ill.) College. A graduate of the Biblical Seminary in New York, he received his masters and doctor of philosophy degrees from New York University. His post-doctoral study was completed at Faculte de Theologie Protestante at Montpellier, France, and the University of Basle at Switzerland.

Dr. Miller taught Bible and English in Korea and was instructor of the New Testament at the New York Biblical Seminary. He filled in as visiting instructor at the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa.

Ordained in 1939 by the Presbytery of Baltimore, Presbyterian Church in the U.S., his first pastorate was the Highland (Md.) Presbyterian Church. Following that, he went to the Highland Park Presbyterian Church of Dallas, Tex., where he served as assistant pastor.

HE WAS INSTRUCTOR of the New Testament at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va., preceding his appointment as president of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1962.

He has preached in colleges, universities and academies throughout the states and has participated in preaching missions in all parts of the country.

Dr. Miller was author and editor of several books and various theological journals. He was co-editor of "Interpretation" a journal of Bible and Theology, and associate editor of "The Layman's Bible Commentary" which he presented as gifts to his local relatives. He has served as a lecturer at many seminaries and institutes.

His wife was educated in the local schools and those of India. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Western College at Oxford and her master of religious education from the New York Biblical Seminary.

They have a daughter, Lynne, who was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh, and two sons, Douglas, attending Wooster College, and Richard, a student at Kiskiminetas Preparatory School of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Miller is a man who knows his way around in the geographical world, the world of letters, the Biblical world and the world of the church.

You And The Law

Stream, rivers and lakes have played an important part in the growth of Ohio and the nation.

Various navigable waterways provide routes for commerce and pleasure travel as well as power sources and drinking water. Ohio once had a flourishing canal system acclaimed as the finest in the world at that time.

Naturally, there are various laws which govern the use and access to these waterways. If you own a home along a waterway, you are well aware of how important it is that you be able to use your docking facilities or "fishing bridge," etc., when you please.

PROPERTY owners have what are known as "riparian rights" to water and water courses which front on their land. This means that, no matter what is done in the area, they cannot be denied access to the water unless provided adequate compensation.

For example, highway relocation or construction must provide some access for property owners to the lake or river on which their property fronts, or they must receive adequate compensation for the "damage." This would seem only normal. Without this remedy you might be "up a creek with no place to paddle," so to speak.

However, the water rights and compensation for damages was further defined in a recent decision of the Ohio Supreme Court. In this case a businessman claimed that he was due damages because construction of a highway bridge downstream from his factory denied ships access to his plant. Because of this, he had to relocate his plant below the bridge. He claimed that his "riparian rights" had been violated.

THE COURT ruled, however, that these water rights are limited in nature. It said that the factory owner still had access to the navigable river and this is all that the "riparian rights" allow. There is no constitutional right to compensation due to the fact that the factory was, in effect, cut off from the outside world.

In its opinion, the court noted that the right to go from private land to the river is a private right, but use of the navigable river is a public right. Therefore, there could be no private compensation for loss of a public right.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I make a good job of cleaning a mop?

A.—Try boiling it in an old pail half-full of water in which a tablespoon of lye has been dissolved. Then rinse thoroughly, and your mop should be as fresh and good as new.

Q.—What can I do if I have gotten too much bluing in my wash?

A.—You can rinse out "the blues" by dousing your clothes in clear water to which you've added a little vinegar.

Stamps In The News

Minkus Publications reports it has prepared a complete set of pages to accommodate all of the Eleanor Roosevelt stamps (issued up to the beginning of November). They will include spaces for all the stamps issued in her honor as "Defender of Human Rights" and for her fight against cancer. The 12 fully illustrated pages are punched to fit standard three-ring binders. The price is 75 cents and may be obtained from your local stamp dealer.

The United Nations Postal Administration announced its 1964 souvenir folder is now on sale. The cost is $1.90 each, plus return postage. Each folder contains a mint single of every U.N. stamp issued during the year. The front cover shows an enlargement of the 50 cent definite stamp designed by Hatim El Mekki of Tunisia. The reverse side has a representative group of United Nations stamps.

India has issued a new stamp in its Children's Day Series depicting the late Prime Minister Pandit Nehru, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. This is the second time this year that the late Prime Minister has been featured on an Indian stamp. The first such stamp was in memorial. The new adhesive illustrates the Nehru Memorial Medal. The profile likeness of India who have never seen a reproduction of Nehru without his hat.

Nepal has issued a two denomination set of stamps to commemorate the coming of age of His Royal Highness Birendra Beer Bikram Shah Dev, the Crown Prince of Nepal. It was his 19th birthday. The denominations are 10 and 15 paisas and each shows his portrait.

Health, Safety Tips

With winter here, it's time to beware of frostbite.

Ordinarily a health problem only in the northern states, frostbite can also hit well down into the south when blizzards sweep in, and those less accustomed to severe cold may be less aware of its dangers.

True frostbite means that the tissues are frozen, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. Crystals of ice form between the cells. Nerves, muscles and blood vessel tissues are most susceptible.

THE WIND plays an important part in frostbite. The chilling effect of air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is the same as 40-below-zero air on a still day.

One of the dangers of frostbite is that you often don't feel it. First thing you know is that someone else notices that your nose or ear is turning white. The frozen part becomes hard of touch and loses feeling. Many sports leaders advocate a buddy system for outdoor winter sports. Two persons are paired off, each watching the other for signs of frostbite.

To prevent frostbite, first be certain that you are properly dressed for the temperature. Avoid overexertion and excessive perspiration. Avoid contact of bare flesh with cold metal. Don't smoke or drink alcohol.

IN FIRST AID for frostbite, forget the old saw about rubbing the affected part with snow, and also forget the completely invalid caution against rapid thawing. Also, don't massage or rub the frozen part. Don't touch it at all.

Begin rapid re-warming as soon as possible. A hot bath is excellent, but avoid scalding. Hot wet towels will help, changed frequently and applied gently. If no fire or hot water is at hand, place the patient in a sleeping bag, or cover with coats and blankets. Hot liquids will help raise body temperature.

For any frostbite, even a mild case, prompt medical attention is important. The depth and degree of the frozen tissue cannot be readily ascertained, and the treatment will vary with the severity of the injury.

Dress properly and use common sense about exposure in severe cold, and most cases of frostbite can be avoided.

Brighten George Washington's birthday anniversary for your family with this pudding suggestion from Mrs. M. L. Arcuragi of Glenmoor.

1 cup packaged biscuit mix
1 cup drained canned tart cherries
1 1/4 cup cherry juice and water mixed
1 cup sugar
About 1-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons oleo or butter
Add 1/4 cup sugar and drain ed cherries to biscuit mix. Stir in just enough milk to make a stiff dough. Spread in a greased 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan.

Heat the fruit juice with oleo and the remaining 3/4 cup sugar, and pour boiling hot over the dough. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 30 minutes. Cool.

Dough rises through syrup as it bakes. Serve with Dream Whip. Serves six.

Oak Glen Plans Scholarship Test

The National Merit Scholarship test will be administered at Oak Glen High School at 8 a.m. March 9, for scholarships to be awarded in 1966.

The NMSQT is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the 11th annual competition for four - year scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts and individuals.

The test scores of students examined in March will be reported to their schools before May 15. The scores are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study. Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

Lions Hear Bennett Taylor

Scouting Influence Cited In Preparation Of Youths

The problems today's youth face and how the Boy Scout organization attempts to help prepare them were outlined for the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel by Bennett Taylor, Columbiana Council executive.

Explaining that youths now have more problems and pressures than faced their parents, Taylor declared, "They live in a fish bowl; someone is always evaluating and interpreting them. At times, we seem to forget they are human beings."

THE SCOUT executive said one Congressional report on young people "must have come out of garbage cans," explaining that it only mentioned the troubles some get into but failed to mention those active in church organizations, scout groups and as good students.

If one teen-ager does wrong, Taylor said, it casts suspicion on all others. One of the troubles is that some try to live up to the image rather than live with it.

Scouting tries to place boys in the best light so people can see their achievements.

Youths face military service today with mixed emotions because they have been regaled with stories on tough sergeants and strict discipline. Actually, it is not any harder discipline than when they were on athletic teams, he said.

THERE IS a lack of sportsmanship today, he said, adding that young people have forgotten the old adage about the importance of the game rather than winning or losing. "There's no more cheering the good plays, but the cheers go to the man or team who made the point. John Q. Public demands victory!"

Scouts are trained to respect others and to play fairly, he continued.

Many young people also lack discipline and need to be taught right from wrong. Too often, Taylor said, youths try to see how much the public will stand for.

Scouts are taught to obey their parents, patrol leaders and adult leaders, he pointed out.

Young people also need to learn how to work. "It's not popular to work today. They see some people trying to stretch their unemployment checks until social security arrives."

"We try to teach scouts to pay their own way, to earn money for their equipment and trips," the council executive continued.

THERE IS also the problem of a religious code, Taylor said, pointing out young people see others selling out every day and citing a new basketball point shaving scandal in the news this week.

One of the first items in the Scout Oath is "to do my duty to God" and the last Scout Law is "A Scout Is Reverent."

"The simple social graces are following by the wayside. Young people are afraid of being sissies if they thank people graciously."

Young people also need solitude, he said. "How much chance do they get to be alone? They run with the pack amid constant noise."

Scouts get the opportunity for solitude at silent campfires and long hikes alone when they can think over their problems, he said.

INFLUENCE CITED — 2-30 L. Taylor was introduced by Earl Locke, program chairman.

RICHARD C. Martin, president, appointed John T. Smith as chairman of the nominating committee with Richard Walker and Harold Howard as members.

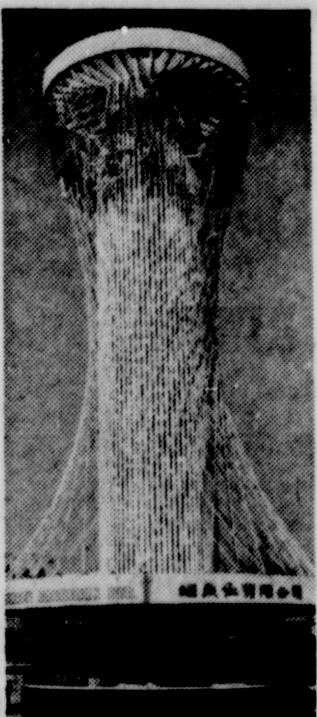

Ed Shingler was named to head the committee to select the "Lion of the Year."

George McCullough, international counselor, reminded members the club's 40th anniversary was last Thursday. It will be observed at a "Charter Night" banquet March 27 at the Country Club.

Don Duke, co-chairman of the annual minstrel show, said tickets will be available at Crook's, Milligan Hardware, Burbick's and the Men's Shop as well as from members.

The next rehearsal for the minstrel show March 13 will be Feb. 28 at 2 p.m. at the hotel.

Ruritans To Ask Heart Funds In Calcutta Area

Plans for the Heart Fund collection in Calcutta and the eastern section of St. Clair Township have been completed by the Liverpool-Calcutta Ruritan Club, Richard Kidder, club president and general chairman said.

Kidder, registry clerk at the Post Office, will be aided by John Geren, co-chairman who is a rural carrier and Review route man.

The Ruritans will be aided by the Beaver Local Key Club with Mike Fisher as president and Pete Metrovich as adviser and a group of 4-H girls headed by Mrs. Don Thompson. Some individuals also will be helping, Kidder said.

The volunteer workers will meet Sunday noon at Kidder's home on Maple Dr. for assignments by Geren and instructions on the Heart Fund kits from the chairman.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Kidder and Ruritan wives after the routes have been completed.

VA Official Due At Steubenville

Michael Blischak, service officer of the Jefferson County American Legion Council, said a contact representative of the Veterans Administration Regional Office will be in Steubenville to explain changes in veterans insurance. Date, time and place will be announced.

Important amendments to the National Service Life Insurance Act became effective Jan. 1. A new type of total disability income protection may be added to all NSLI policies except RH. It will provide a monthly income of $10 for each $1,000 of insurance in force on account of total disability of six months or more in duration if the insured becomes totally disabled before reaching his 65th birthday.

A similar provision was previously available; however, benefits were not payable unless the disability occurred before attainment of age 60.

Applicants under 60 years of age before Jan. 1, 1966, may qualify. After Jan. 1, 1966, the provision may not be issued to policyholders after their 55th birthday. Evidence of good health may be required of the applicant, Blischak said.

Founders Day Observance Features PTA At Midland

Founders Day was observed by the Midland 1st St. Parent-Teacher Association Thursday afternoon and the program featured Mrs. Virginia Dawson, executive director of the Beaver County Mental Health Society, as guest speaker. Mrs. Joseph Corrado, president, presided.

Past presidents honored and presented corsages included Mrs. John Hoseney, Mrs. Nick Tepavich, Mrs. Patsy Papa and Mrs. George J. Suznevich. Mrs. Frank Dapollonia, program chairman, was in charge and also presented corsages to the teachers.

A discussion was held on the "Dollar for Scholar" phase of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation.

Plans were made for a bake sale March 2 at the McGeehan Agency. Various reports were heard.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Helen Bradfield's second grade.

A silver tea was featured with Mrs. Suznevich presiding at the tea table. A large Founders Day cake, donated by Mrs. Alberta Gregor's first grade homeroom mothers, centered the table. A silver offering was received.

Mrs. Anthony Azzarello is hospitality chairman and Mrs. James Mullen, co-chairman. The next meeting will be held March 18.

Ford's Post On FCC Still To Be Filled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty days have passed since Frederick W. Ford quit as a member of the Federal Communications Commission, and it's still "3-3 at the FCC."

President Johnson has given no indication who will replace

Ford, now president of the National Community Television Association.

The result has been a handful of 3-3 votes on whether to grant license renewals or to inquire into the commercial practices of several radio and television stations seeking extension of their licenses.

The vacancy has not caused any discernible air of crisis at the commission, however. One source said the commissioners "are plowing ahead like we have always been." But another said, "We're inclined to go slow on any major policy things, wondering how that seventh vote is going to go."

Johnson's choice must be either a Republican or an independent, since four Democrats — the maximum one party is allowed — now sit on the commission.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I have just finished packing a lunch for my 11-year-old boy to take on a field trip. He insisted on a piece of his favorite pie that I had just baked. It was a little juicy so I racked my brain for a way to pack it so it wouldn't ruin the rest of his lunch, and also so he wouldn't have to bring home the container.

I used a cardboard carton from a pound of margarine! I cut a flap in the top for easy eating, and taped the sides of the carton.

Then... I wrapped the pie in a piece of aluminum foil and laid it in the box. By flipping open the lid it makes a dandy pie box. The utensil can also be placed in the carton with the pie.

The box fits well in any packed lunch. Sandwiches can be placed on top and fruit at the sides, thus not crushing the pie.

MRS. CLYDE LINEBAUGH.

DEAR FOLKS: Something just hit me (no, the ton of bricks has not fallen just yet...).

A margarine box can be used for oodles of things. For those who carry lunches in sacks... slip that sandwich in an oleo box! It won't be all smashed, especially if it's tuna fish.

Homemade cookies, which crumble so easily, may be put in these boxes. Wow! That gal had a great idea, didn't she?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: You may call this a letter of laughter but it truly works. About once a year, I use a blow torch to remove any accumulation from my wife's cast iron skillets and kettles.

For those who do not have blow torches, are they aware that any garage could do this for you?

HENRY.

DEAR HELOISE: A truck driver told us that when you have road film on your windshield... or just on a drizzly day... to use cream of tartar on the glass.

Just put a pinch of cream of tartar on your windshield and turn on the wipers (or use on cloth and wipe). This is marvelous for a streaky windshield. It sure is good to be able to see out again.

Some of the major truck lines are making cream of tartar part of their standard equipment.

Your column is just wonderful and I wouldn't miss it for anything.

MRS. SETTERS.

Recently I was visiting in a home which had one of those fancy new sewing machines that make the fancy stitches. This grandmother was letting down the hems on her little girl's cotton dresses. Where the white line remained, she had a great idea.

After pressing the hem of the dress open, she stitched across the white line to hide the damage. She also put a row of this fancy stitching around the collars and cuffs of the dress, thus making it look adorable.

No one would ever know this hem had been let down. Be sure to set your machine on a larger stitch when doing this. It makes the prettiest design.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is something I have done for several years and find very helpful:

First, I rub a thin coating of vegetable shortening on the threads and underneath the lids of jars used for storing liquids in the refrigerator.

Merely grease the threads of the caps for items such as molasses, glue bottles, touch-up enamel paints, etc., and the lids will never stick tight.

This also is wonderful for nail polish bottles, screws and bolts in stoves, and all appliances before they become frozen with age.

MRS. WALTER SMITH.

Payment Of Dollar Eases Conscience

ELYRIA, Ohio - 830 Ann Jarzema walked into Mayor Fred B. Sanford's office and said "I've got to pay the city $1 to clear my conscience."

She explained that several years ago she had taken some loose change — "I think it was about $1" — from a pond in a city park.

"I want to pay the city back," she said. City Auditor Edwin Haywood accepted her payment, gave her a receipt — and added the dollar to the city's general fund.

Area Girl Scout Session To Be Held In March

The Upper Ohio Valley Girl Scout Council Conference for Senior Scouts and ninth grade Cadettes will be held March 12-14 at Jacksons Mill. Collaborating in the conference programming is the Vandalia Girl Scout Council in Clarksburg. Area Senior Planning Boards have been hard at work on ideas expressed for the Jacksons Mill event at a local council conference held in September 1964 at Camp Russell in Oglebay Park. In line with current emphasis on a re-appraisal of the American way of life, the Seniors have chosen for their theme "Patriotism."

Walter Jacoby of Clarksburg, an associate Executive of the Ohio-West Virginia Area Council of YMCA, is conference leader.

Delegates will arrive by bus late Friday evening, March 12, and the opening session will be a "get-acquainted hootenanny". Saturday morning at 9:30, Jacoby will introduce the theme before the total assembly after which buzz groups will develop special topics related to "Patriotism," and panelists chosen from among these groups will present the reports.

The afternoon session will be geared to special discussions dealing with the role of young women and their part in today's community.

Worship services for both Catholics and Protestant Scouts will be held Sunday morning with a chorus of Senior and Cadette Scouts under the direction of Mrs. George Schafer of Wheeling.

Reservations may be sent directly to the Upper Ohio Valley Girl Scout Headquarters in Wheeling, as well as inquiries concerning the conference.

The Chester - Newell and the Wellsville Neighborhood Girl Scout groups are members.

It's Official! Bliss To Resign Ohio GOP Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ray C. Bliss has made it official: He's quitting April 1 as Ohio Republican chairman, a job into which he says he has put "16 years of sweat."

The veteran politician, who takes over that same date as Republican national chairman replacing Dean Burch, formally announced his resignation yesterday and called a March 8 meeting of the Ohio State Central and Executive Committees to pick his successor.

Speculation on a successor has focused on John S. Andrews of Toledo, Lucas County chairman; Allen County chairman; and Saul G. Stillman of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County vice chairman.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has not indicated whom he favors if anyone.

"When the selection is made, it will be mutually agreeable," he said recently.

Bliss was a Summit County chairman when he took the state job in 1949. In recent years he has received $20,000 annually for directing Ohio Republican strategy. He will get a reported $40,000 as national chairman.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—What can I do about a rust stain on a washable material?

A.—Place a teaspoonful of cream of tartar on the spot and tie with a thin cord to form a bag shape. Drop the whole thing into your washing machine, and when laundered, the stain should have gone down the drain.

Q.—How can I make my own brass polish?

A.—Put two tablespoons of salt into a cup of vinegar, add just enough flour to make a smooth paste, then dip a damp cloth into this paste and rub until the stains disappear. Rinse with cold water, then dry.

Potters Given Scare But Nip Weirton, 74-71, In Finale

Midland Captures Fourth Straight Section 8 Crown

Taylor Scores 28 For 11th Victory

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters let an 11-point advantage slip through their fingers, but regained their poise in the closing minutes to edge a spirited Weirton five, 74-71, before a sparse crowd Friday night in the West Virginia city.

The final game of the 1964-65 season nearly wound up in the loss column before the Potters, showing superior height, bounced back to post their 11th win as against seven defeats and give Frank Chan a winning edge in his first campaign as head coach. Weirton dropped its 14th game, while winning three.

EAST Liverpool will now mark time until Sectional Tournament at the Community Arena in Steubenville, beginning March 2. Drawings will be held Tuesday night at Steubenville.

Last night's finale saw Frank Taylor spark the Potters with 28 points, the highest total scored by an ELHS player this season.

The Potter senior was responsible for putting his team back in front after it had lost the lead in the fourth quarter.

AFTER being ahead by 11 points late in the third period, the Potters fell behind by as many as five midway through the fourth quarter, trailing, 63-68.

Joe Massey's goal cut the margin to 63-60, then Taylor took over to score three straight goals and push the Potters in front for good, 66-63, with 2:05 remaining in the game.

EAST Liverpool still had to stave off several more repeated bids, which found Weirton pulling within one point, 72-71, with 19 seconds to go. A field goal by Terry Lawrence from under the basket with 9 seconds left iced the decision.

WEIRTON became aroused in the third quarter when little Dan Foley, a 5-10 sparkplug, put a new life into the Riders.

He was the outstanding all-around player on the court as he meshed 26 points, 18 coming in the second half.

Besides scoring, Foley, the lone regular from last year's state runnerup team, came up with several steals and clever assists.

East Liverpool moved out to a 19-9 quarter lead and showed an edge of 36-29 at halftime.

THE POTTERS pushed the margin to 48-37 and 50-39 in the third quarter, but Weirton paced

Potter Reserves Close Card With 13-4 Mark

The East Liverpool reserves completed a successful season on the court by recording a 13-4 mark under Bob Dawson in his first year as Potter assistant.

The Blue and White jayvees romped to a 68-44 victory in their last appearance of the season Friday night at Weirton.

Leading 31-17 at halftime, the young Potters moved into a 48-31 lead after three rest stops.

Western Falls In Final Battle To Beaver, 51-47

Western Beaver completed its first winning season in the three years of the school's three year existence but dropped its final game of the campaign, 51-47, Friday night at Beaver.

Western finished with an overall 14-8 record but all of its defeats came in Section 8 play where the Beavers compiled a 2-8 record.

Trailing, 17-13 at the end of the first quarter, Western bounced back to tie the count at 25-25 by intermission. Beaver went out to a 38-35 third quarter lead and after a 42-42 tie in the fourth quarter took command for good.

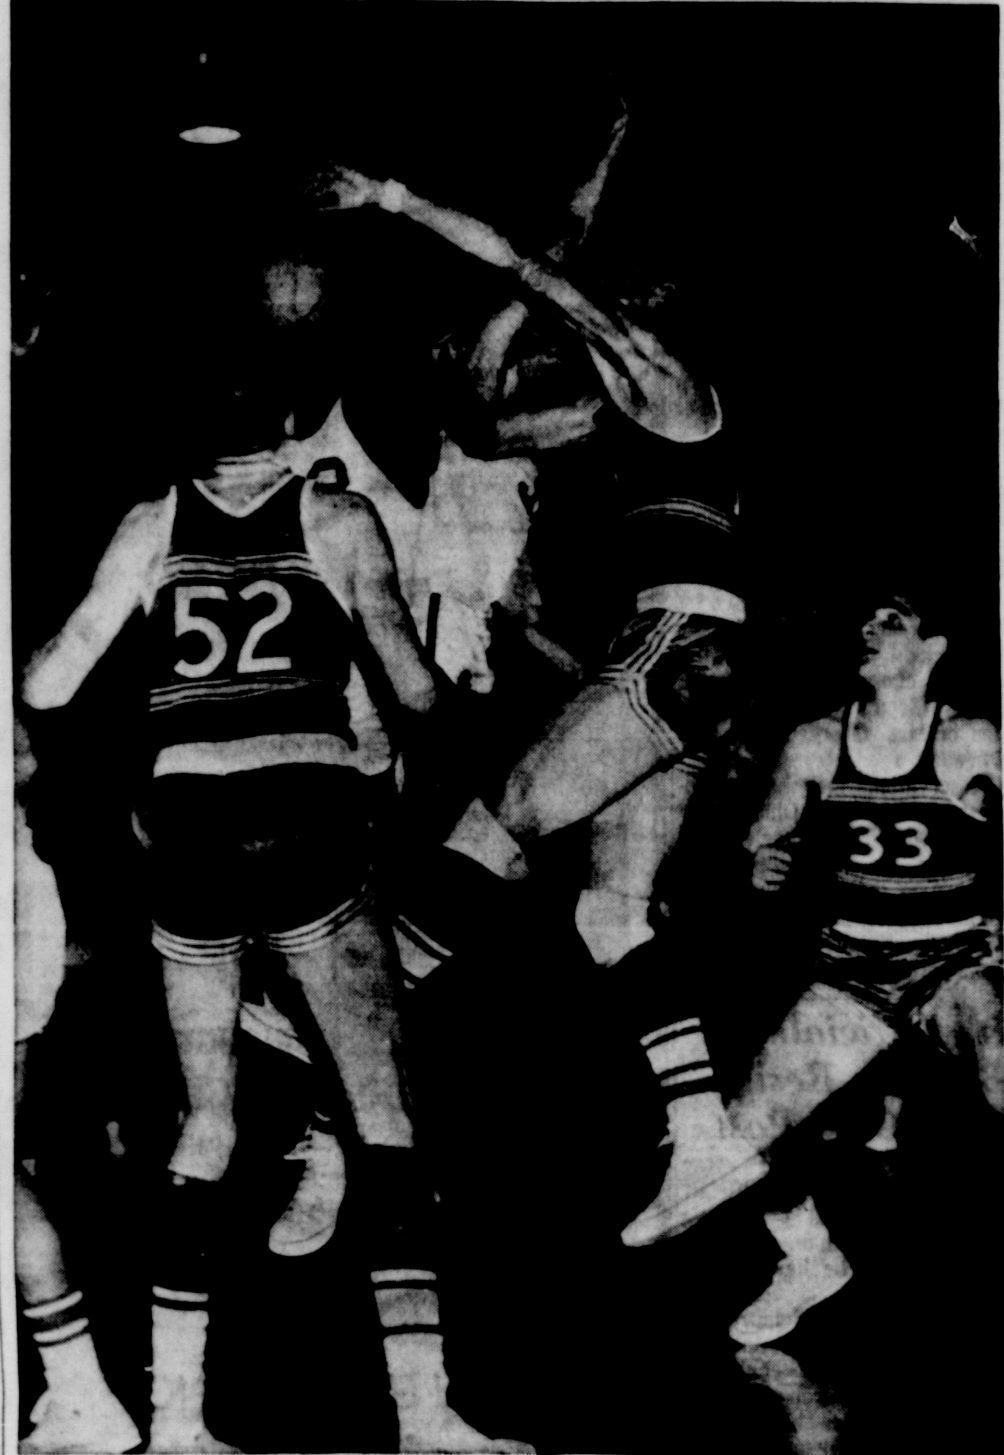

Jack Rowe fired in 20 points to lead the Beaver attack while Western showed four in the double figures. Ken Brandt, the team's leading scorer this season wound up with 11 while 10 point efforts came from Bruce Singleton, Clarence Andrews and Gary Shreve. Singleton also controlled the backboards for the Beavers.

Brandt finished the season with 302 points to lead in the point department.

Ends 6-Game Losing Streak

Southern Bumps Greenford

Southern Local broke a six-game losing streak by rolling over Greenford, 76-62, Friday night on the Greenford court.

The victory leaves Coach Al Gironi's team with a 6-11 record and one game remaining next Friday night at Toronto. The loss was the 16th in 17 games for the Greenford five.

Southern established a 22-18 first quarter lead and never looked behind in moving to a 45-33 advantage at halftime and 63-48 margin after three periods.

Larry Smith, who grabbed 17 rebounds also paced the Indians scoring with 24 points. Dave Gerren was next with 16 and Glenn Stewart fired in 13 marks.

United made 29 of 63 shots for 46 per cent while Greenford shot 49 per cent on 24 of 50.

Eagles Finish 11-7

United Ends On 65-54 Win

HANOVERTON — United bounced back after falling behind early in the third quarter to hand West Branch a 65-54 setback to give the Eagles a 11-7 record for the season.

United led 19-8 at the end of the first quarter and 30-27 at halftime but West Branch scored three straight baskets to open the third period and gained a 33-30 lead.

Coach Jack Mills ordered a full court press and caused West Branch several turnovers as United went into a 52-45 lead at the end of the third period. United built up a 12-point lead

Chicago Golf Club Sold For $5 Million

CHICAGO (AP) — Tam O'Shanter Country Club, site of this year's Western Open golf tournament, was sold Friday in a deal involving upwards of $5 million.

The 120-acre tract, scene of the late George S. May's rich golfing carnivals, was sold by May's family to J. Emil Anderson & Sons, Inc., strictly as a real estate transaction.

The deal will not affect the Western Open which will be held at Tam July 1-4.

Leopards Finish Unbeaten; Drawings Set Tonight

Another Section 8 title came to rest in Midland Friday night, but winning the league championship is old hat to the Leopards.

Coach Hank Kuzma's powerhouse clinched the title on the final night of the season with a 67-50 victory at New Brighton.

Brent Lake finished with 13 points. They came in the first half. Norm Vanlier, the backcourt star, assumed the role as playmaker and set up his teammates while adding five points.

MIDLAND again dominated the backboards, with Hill pulling down 19 rebounds. The Leopards had a 45-23 edge in this department.

The Leopards shot 48 per cent, hitting on 26 of 55 attempts, while New Brighton shot 63 times and made 22.

Midland also had another undefeated team completing its season Friday night. The Midland reserves posted an 18-0 record with a 53-38 win in the preliminary. Sandy Martin led the way with 19 points.

It's on to the WPIAL tournament for Midland. Its tourney schedule will become known tonight when drawings are held at the Roosevelt Hotel in Pittsburgh.

MIDLAND completed its second straight undefeated season and third in four years under the brilliant reign of Kuzma. The current Leopard squad ran off 21 straight victories.

The Section 8 title was the fourth straight captured by Midland. Kuzma is in his fifth season at Midland and the Section championship eluded him only once in his first season.

New Brighton led once last night, 6-5, in the opening minutes, but Midland dominated the contest the rest of the way.

THE LEOPARDS jumped in front 23-11 at the first quarter post and maintained the lead 35-23 at halftime. They increased the margin to 51-32 at the end of three periods.

Sim Hill, Midland's 6-6 center and leading scorer in Section 8 this season, poured in 27 points in the finale, while teammate Ron Brown added 22.

Wellsville Bows In Overtime Tilt At Toronto, 74-68

Beaver Local Registers 12th Win In Finale 66 To 58

Sophomore Nets 38 For Knights

Wellsville went down to the wire on the 1964-65 season before losing a 74-68 decision in overtime Friday night at Toronto.

The Tigers lost on a night when Dick Symons, the talented 6-4 sophomore from Toronto, hit his high for the season by pouring in 38 points, including eight in overtime.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers, who finished with a 5-13 record, led all the way through the first half, then battled the favored Red Knights on even terms before dropping the struggle in overtime.

The victory pushed Toronto's record to 12-4 and made the Red Knights the top-seeded team in the Sectional Class AA tournament.

Wellsville held a 32-28 halftime edge, but Toronto tied the count at 32-32. From that point on, the two rivals battled nip and tuck the rest of the way and into a 46-46 deadlock after three periods.

The Tigers held a 64-62 edge, but Bill Lloyd tied the game with a field goal in the closing seconds to send the contest into overtime.

Symons scored eight of his team's 10 points in the three-minute overtime, including two field goals and four fouls. Toronto jumped out to a four-point lead in the extra period, ending Wellsville's hope.

THE WIDEST margin of the game was a six-point lead Wellsville owned at one time in the first half.

East Palestine Edges Sebring At Foul Line

SEBRING — In a game marked by a brief scuffle which saw two players ejected, East Palestine edged Sebring, 58-56, here Friday night.

The victory was the sixth in 17 starts for the Bulldogs who entertain Minerva in the season's finale tonight.

Jim Parker and Tom Walker with 22 and 19 points respectively put the spark in the East Palestine attack.

The Bulldogs held a slim lead most of the way but the actual

DePaul U. Students Set Up Betting Ring, But No 'Fix'

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of DePaul students got together and made a basketball betting coup, it was revealed Friday night.

There was no fix involved and no basketball players had any part of the action according to Ray Meyer, DePaul basketball coach and athletic director.

The group of six students, none of who was identified, put up $200 each and made a $1,200 bet that DePaul would defeat Memphis State in a game played Jan. 5.

DePaul, favored by 16½ points, defeated Memphis State 99-70, enabling the group to win the bet.

When rumors of the bet reached Meyer, the coach lost no time in getting his basketball team together to make sure none of the players was involved.

Assured that no players had any part of the wager, Meyer then conducted an investigation which led him to the bettors.

"They told me what they had done," said Meyer, "and also revealed the name of a South Side bookmaker who had taken the bet. I read them the riot act."

So far as DePaul and the team are concerned, they had no part of the transaction."

Freak Accident To Stall Career Of 7-Foot Cager

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Newmark's promising basketball career will be stalled for at least a year because of a freak accident, doctors who operated on the 7-foot Columbia freshman star said today.

Newmark, an outstanding student-athlete, underwent surgery Friday to repair torn nerves, arteries and tendons in his left hand and wrist, severely injured when he put the hand through a glass panel while trying to open a dormitory door.

Doctors estimated it would be six months before they could determine if the three-hour operation was successful and, if so, another year before Newmark would be able to begin retraining his hand.

The two-time high school All-American from New York's Lincoln High School, was averaging 25.7 points per game for the Lion freshmen.

Rudibaugh Tops Victory With 20

After experiencing a losing season in his first year, Coach John Pape has turned the Beavers into a winning combination and they climaxed the 1964-65 campaign with a 66-58 victory over Jefferson Union Friday night on the Beaver Local court.

The Beavers finished with 12 victories and 6 defeats which matched the school record for the number of wins in one season. Only the 1960-61 team with a 12-5 mark had as many victories.

Beaver Local will now turn-its attention to the Section AA tournament Tuesday night at South High Fieldhouse in Youngstown, meeting Newton Falls. Game time is 9 p. m.

SHOOTING well at the four line paid off for Beaver Local Friday night. Both teams showed 24 field goals, but the Beavers made 18 of 26 fouls, while JU shot well but not enough, hitting 10 of 12.

The Beavers led all the way, holding a 16-12 first-quarter lead and increasing the margin to 31-20 at halftime. JU fought back to within five points, 49-44 at the end of the third quarter, but didn't get any closer.

DICK RUDIBAUGH, Norm Gaydos and Dennis Horger were the big guns in the final game. The hard-working Rudibaugh tallied 20 points and pulled down 18 rebounds. The rebound total is a new game record, while his total of 205 is a season mark at Beaver Local.

He finished as the No. 2 scorer on the team with 230 points. Horger paced the Beavers with 236 during the season. Gaydos tallied 15 points and Horger 14 in the victory over JU.

The Beaver Local reserves lost a 49-47 decision in double overtime to the JU subs.

UCLA Wins 28th Straight In Loop

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dennis Dairman, the reluctant shooter of 1963 and 1964, is popping them in this year for the Arizona State Sun Devils.

The 22-year-old senior from Phoenix tallied 27 points to lead ASU to an upset 71-65 victory over the New Mexico Lobos in college basketball Friday night at Tempe.

UCLA, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, defeated Oregon State 73-57 for its 28th straight triumph in the Pacific Athletic Conference.

Cornell won its 15th straight by crushing Brown 96-61 and Penn State made it nine in a row by taking Colgate 85-76 in other top games.

Dairman, 6-foot-5, flipped in 12 field goals and three of six free throws as Arizona State snapped New Mexico's six-game winning streak and dropped the Lobos into a first place tie with Arizona in the Western Athletic Conference.

Arizona gained its share of the WAC lead by surviving a closing rally by Wyoming to beat the Cowboys 78-77 at Tucson, Wyoming, led by Flynn Robinson's 33 points, rallied from 14 points down in the last four minutes, but just missed.

Steve Cram's 22 points paced Cornell in the Big Red romp over Brown at Ithaca boosting their Ivy League mark to 11-0.

Princeton retained second place at 9-1 by handing Dartmouth its 30th straight Ivy setback 83-57 at Hanover. Harvard upset Penn 76-67 behind Keith Sedlacek's 32 points at Cambridge to virtually eliminate the Quakers from the Ivy race.

Bob Weiss' 28 points sparked Penn State over Colgate at Hamilton, N.Y., and upped the Nittany Lions' record to 16-3, their best in 11 years.

Gail Goodrich's 28 points led the UCLA Bruins to their victory over Oregon State in the feature of a PAC doubleheader at Los Angeles. In the opener Southern California crushed Oregon 77-56.

OFF THE RECORD

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove cat-stain from materials?
A. — Remove as soon as possible, because age makes this a hard stain to deal with. Flush as much of the stain as possible out in a fairly concentrated solution of neutral detergent and water. Lubricate the remaining portions of the stain with glycerin, working it in with the blunt edge of a knife or the back of a comb. Then flush again with the detergent - water solution.

Q. — Is there any way I can bring a shrunken vacuum bottle cork back to size?
A. — You can usually renovate these corks by boiling them in a covered pan. This sterilizes them, too.

Q. — How can I re-whiten discolored handkerchiefs?
A. — By immersing them in cold water to which you've added a pinch of cream of tartar.

Q. — How can I remove odors from a frying pan?
A. — A little vinegar poured into the pan while it is still hot will remove the odor of fried onions, and also of fish. Another meal is to sprinkle oatmeal in the pan and shake it over the flame until the meal begins to scorch.

Q. — Please suggest a good way to clean leather upholstery.
A. — A soft cloth dipped into milk does a good job — or better still the beaten white of egg. When this has dried, go over the leather again with a clean soft cloth.

Q. — What can I do when the adhesive on an envelope flap or a postage stamp doesn't stick?
A. — Use fingernail polish. It dries quickly, and really sticks.

Junior Editors Quiz on PAINT

QUESTION: What is house paint made of?

ANSWER: Paint is magical stuff; look how quickly it can bring new freshness and life to some wornout, battered-looking surface! People in the U.S. use more than 635 million gallons of paint a year.

Paint is liquid, with powders called pigments added. Some of these, the prime pigments, give the color, but others, called inert pigments, are added to give the paint body and make it last. In early days, colors in paint, especially the browns and reds, came mostly from colored earths. Ancient Egyptians made blues and violets by adding indigo and madder plants. In 1897, a process of getting colors from products of coal tar was discovered, so the modern paint maker has a wide list of prime pigments from which to choose. Besides talc and clay, mica is often used as an inert pigments. Besides the older liquids or vehicles we show, there are newer ones such as alkyl resin. In recent days, new kinds of paint have appeared, such as those with a rubber base. Some of these cover a surface wonderfully well and don't drip when you put them on.

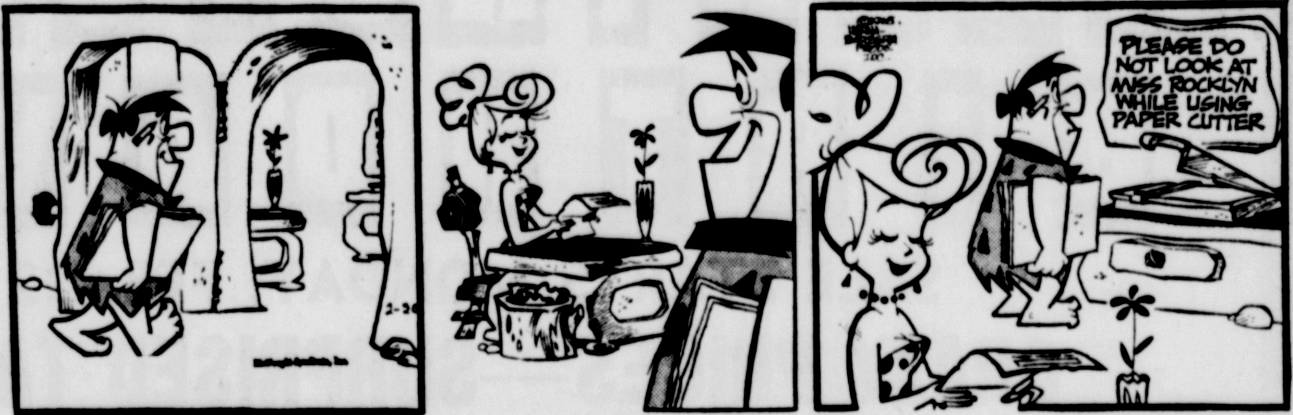

FOR YOU TO DO: Maybe you've figured what's wrong with the picture, but read the answer anyway. Jerry told his mother he'd paint his own room and he's painting the floor with a sparkling coat of tile red. Poor Jerry — he hasn't yet realized he's painted himself into a corner. That's something for you not to do.

Elaine Lee of Ponca City, Okla., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors of The Review.
